means that this documentary record of the reception of German literature in England is a valuable scholarly resource. One of the most important features of British literary and intellectual history over the past 250 years is the influence of German literature. From the second half of the 18th Century through the first decades of the 19th, German books and ideas attracted then gained the attention of a nation. Despite the acknowledged importance of the influence on writers such as Coleridge and Carlyle, the subject though often alluded to, was rarely studied. This collection provides a guidebook through the masses of periodical and allows the English side of the Anglo-German literary relationship to be explored in detail. In order to make the collection useful to scholars with a wide range of interest, it has been divided into three parts. Part 1 is a chronological presentation of commentary on German literature in general. It also contains collective reviews of multiple German authors, notices of important anthologies and reactions to influential works about Germany and its culture. Part 2 collects reviews of 18th Century individual German authors, and Part 3 is devoted to the English reception of Goethe and Schiller. Parts 2 & 3 contain cross references to the collective reviews of Part 1. Containing over 200 British serials and articles and reviews from all the major English literary periodicals, the collection also includes a broad sampling of opinion from the more general magazines, including some popular religious publications.

The twenty-two papers here are presented as a Festschrift to Henry W. Nordmeyer, scholar from among the best teachers, second to none. The scholars represented are active in the four fields that were central to Professor Nordmeyer's own areas of research and teaching: Middle High German literature, Goethe, Kleist, and poetic theory and analysis. Our contributors desire to reflect the impressive range of our celebrant's interests; it is hopefully evident throughout this book. These scholars, Mr. Nordmeyer's former students and colleagues, are all aware that they are repaying a debt that in a sense cannot be repaid. They gratefully carry on the work of those before who, in the words of Edward Fitzgerald's Omar Khayyam, husbanded the golden grain in the way of our honored teacher, the golden grain of humane learning.
