Perspecta Theater Theatricality And Architecture:

Architecture as a Performing Art Marcia Feuerstein, Gray Read, 2016-04-15 How do buildings act with people and among people in the performances of life This collection of essays reveals a deep alliance between architecture and the performing arts uncovering its roots in ancient stories and tracing a continuous tradition of thought that emerges in contemporary practice With fresh insight the authors ask how buildings perform with people as partners rather than how they look as formal compositions They focus on actions the door that offers the possibility of making a dramatic entrance the window that frames a scene and the city street that is transformed in carnival The essays also consider the design process as a performance improvised among many players and offer examples of recent practice that integrates theater and dance This collection advances architectural theory history and criticism by proposing the lens of performance as a way to engage the multiple roles that buildings can play without reducing them to functional categories By casting architecture as spatial action rather than as static form these essays open a promising avenue for future investigation For architects the essays propose integrating performance into design through playful explorations that can reveal intense relationships between people and place and among people in place Such practices develop an architectural imagination that intuitively asks How might people play out their stories in this place and How might this place spark new stories Questions such as these reside in the heart of all of the essays presented here Together they open a position in the intersection between everyday life and staged performance to rethink the role of architectural design

Cultural Spaces, Production and

Consumption Graeme Evans, 2024-02-02 This book explores the concept of cultural spaces their production and how they are experienced by different users It explores this concept and practice from formal and informal arts and heritage sites festivals and cultural quarters to the production of digital fashion and street art and social engagement through cultural mapping and site based artist collaborations with local communities It offers a unique take on the relationship between cultural production and consumption through an eclectic range of cultural space types featuring examples and case studies across cultural venues events and festivals and cultural heritage and their usage Cultural production is also considered in terms of the transformation of cultural and digital creative quarters and their convergence as visitor destinations in city fringe areas to fashion spaces manifested through museumification and fashion districts The approach taken is highly empirical supported by a wide range of visual illustrations and data underpinned by key concepts notably the social production of space cultural rights and everyday culture which are both tested and validated through the original research presented throughout The book will appeal to students and researchers in human geography arts and museum management cultural policy cultural studies architecture and town planning It will also be useful for policymakers and practitioners from local and city government government cultural agencies and departments architects and town planners cultural venues arts centres museums heritage sites and artistic directors programmers Theater, Theatricality, and Architecture Hans emergence of airports as gateways for their cities has turned into one of the most important architectural undertakings Ever since the first manned flight by the Brothers Orville and Wilbur Wright on December 17th 1903 utilitarian sheds next to landing strips on cow pastures evolved into a completely new building type over the next few decades into places of Modernism as envisioned by Le Corbusier and Frank Lloyd Wright who themselves never built an airport to eventually turn into icons of cultural identity progress and prosperity Many of these airports have become architectural branding devices of their respective cities regions and countries created by some of the most notable contemporary architects This interdisciplinary cultural study deals with the historical formation and transformation of the architectural typology of airports under the aspect of spatial theories This includes the shift from early spaces of transportation such as train stations the synesthetic effect of travel and mobility and the effects of material innovations on the development occupation and use of such spaces The changing uses from mere utilitarian transportation spaces to ones centered on the spectacular culture of late capitalism consumption and identity formation in a rapidly changing global culture are analyzed with examples both from architectural and philosophical points of view The future of airport architecture and design very much looks like the original idea of the Crystal Palace and Parisian Arcades to provide a stage for consumption social theatre and art exhibition
