Perspective Of Angloamerican Architecture:

The Perspective of Anglo-American Architecture James F. O'Gorman,1995-01-01 Model Perspectives: Structure, Architecture and Culture Mark R. Cruvellier,Bjorn N. Sandaker,Luben Dimcheff,2017-09-25 This book contains a unique collection of various perspectives on the relationship between structures and the forms and spaces of architecture As such it provides students and professionals alike with an essential sourcebook that can be mined for visual inspiration as well as for textually rich and authoritative insight into the links between structure architecture and cultural context The chapters address fundamental structural elements and systems columns walls beams trusses frames tensile structures arches domes and shells Each chapter is subdivided into two parts The essays introduce the chapters with the reprinting of a curated set of essays and excerpts by various authors that uniquely address how particular structural elements or systems relate in essential fashion to architectural design concepts The model studies physical models of the overall structural systems of several notable contemporary buildings from Europe North and South America Africa and Asia are illustrated with large photographs detail close ups and views of their external forms and internal spaces that establish the exceptional qualities of these projects in connecting structural form to architectural design objectives Mosaic layouts complete the chapters with a collection of photographs of yet more models whose particular details and unique features serve to extend the visual repertoire of the structural type being considered The combination juxtaposition and mutual positive reinforcement of these two collections one largely textual and the other image based provides the reader with unique and multifaceted insights into how structural forms and systems can be related to architectural design intentions Conveyed by a strong and deliberate graphical design format this assembly of materials gets to the very essence of structures within the context of architecture and will inspire students and practitioners alike to make strategic design decisions for their own projects American Architect ,1890 Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture ,2006 Papers presented at various meetings of the forum

Perspectives in Vernacular Architecture Camille Wells,1986 Exporting American Architecture 1870-2000 Jeffrey W. Cody,2005-06-27 The export of American architecture began in the nineteenth century as a disjointed set of personal adventures and commercial initiatives It continues today alongside the transfer of other aspects of American life and culture to most regions of the world Jeffrey Cody explains how why and where American architects planners building contractors and other actors have marketed American architecture overseas In so doing he provides a historical perspective on the diffusion of American building technologies architectural standards construction methods and planning paradigms Using previously undocumented examples and illustrations he shows how steel frame manufacturers shipped their products abroad enabling the erection of American style skyscrapers worldwide by 1900 and how this phase was followed by similar initiatives by companies manufacturing concrete components Perspectives on Garden Histories Michel Conan,1999 Garden history is a discipline of contested purposes Perspectives on Garden Histories contributes to a self critical examination of this emergent field of study at the same time offering an overview of its main achievements in several domains such as Italian and Mughal gardens and of the new kinds of investigation to which they have led In its early years garden history centered on architectural studies of garden design but in the 1960s the emphasis shifted from garden design to garden meaning The new paradigm considered gardens as complex works of art and demanded an extensive documentation of the historical context as well as of the figurative and discursive sources This approach in its turn was challenged by neo Marxist scholars who proceeded to view landscape appreciation as an ideological superstructure an outgrowth of agricultural production processes Garden designs and their histories can also be viewed as expressions of ideological conflicts in society Neither gardens nor their history can thus be studied independently of the social cultural and political movements that give prominence to the contested ideologies Gardens can be used to foster some ideologies or reflect a reaction against a social change Comparative research offers another fascinating approach exploring the relations between European landscape concepts and other cultural contexts and discussing issues of cultural dominance and interpretation The emergence of various perspectives has led to the incorporation of further questions into the domain of garden studies which has been moving in new directions and using new methods in search of an adapted theoretical framework This volume offers a striking view of changes taking place in the discipline
