Social Perspectives on Behaviour HODO. Stein, Consumer Psychology in Behavioural Perspective G. R. Foxall, 1990 The purpose of the thesis is to assess the contribution of the experimental analysis of behaviour EAB which is closely associated with the work of B F Skinner to the development of consumer psychology an applied subdiscipline which is currently dominated by cognitive models of choice Chapter 1 argues that the predominance of the cognitive model impedes the scientific progress of the psychology of consumer behaviour by inhibiting the development of alternative models A proliferation of competing explanations is advocated for the clash of explanations which Feyerabend argues is a prerequisite of such progress The EAB is advanced as a vehicle for the erosion of the dominating paradigm it not only draws attention to the neglected environmental determinants of behaviour but also provides a philosophical standpoint from which to conduct a critique of the prevailing cognitivism The EAB is described in detail in Chapter 2 its philosophical foundation is examined in terms of the radical epiphenomenalism upon which its mode of explanation rests and an account of operant conditioning demonstrates the empirical basis of the paradigm Skinner s ontological redefinition of behavioural science is outlined through a comparison of classical and operant conditioning The critical significance of the EAB for consumer psychology is explained in Chapter 3 Attention is drawn to the EAB s emphasis on the critical evaluation of theoretical terms unobservables alternative sources of explanation derived from a behaviourist perspective on choice are presented and the more direct route to knowledge provided by a theoretically based experimental method is discussed The EAB is itself subjected to criticism in Chapter 4 which examines its limited capacity to explain human behaviour in complex social situations The verbal control of behaviour the dualistic function of reinforcement informational and hedonic and the disparity between the closed setting of the operant chamber and the relatively open settings in which purchase and consumption occur are noted as undermining radical behaviourism's claim to embody a comprehensive explanation of behaviour Chapter 5 is concerned with the development and evaluation of a model of consumer behaviour derived from the EAB as reconstructed after the critical examination pursued in Chapter 4 The Behavioural Perspective Model seeks to explain patterns of purchase and consumption by the relative openness of the settings in which they take place and the patterns of reinforcement which apparently control them The model's contribution to consumer psychology is discussed in terms of the relevance of its variables to the outcomes of published behaviour modification experiments concerned with environmental conservation Chapter 6 summarises the argument and its implications

Neuroconstructivism: Perspectives and prospects

Denis Mareschal, 2007 What are the processes from conception to adulthood that enable a single cell to grow into a sentient adult The processes that occur along the way are so complex that any attempt to understand development necessitates a multi disciplinary approach integrating data from cognitive studies computational work and neuroimaging an approach till now seldom taken in the study of child development Neuroconstructivism is a major new 2 volume publication that seeks to redress this balance presenting an integrative new framework for considering development Computer and robotic models provide concrete tools for investigating the processes and mechanisms involved in learning and development Volume 2 illustrates the principles of Neuroconstructivist development with contributions from 9 different labs across the world Each of the contributions illustrates how models play a central role in understanding development The models presented include standard connectionist neural network models as well as multi agent models Also included are robotic models emphasizing the need to take embodiment and brain system interactions seriously A model of Autism and one of Specific Language Impairment also illustrate how atypical development can be understood in terms of the typical processes of development but operating under restricted conditions This volume complements Volume 1 by providing concrete examples of how the Neuroconstructivist principles can be grounded within a diverse range of domains thereby shaping the research agenda in those domains
