African Dept., 2011-10-26 This year looks set to be another encouraging one for most sub Saharan African economies Reflecting mainly strong demand but also elevated commodity prices the region s economy is set to expand by more than 51 4 percent in 2011 For 2012 the IMF staff s baseline projection is for growth to be higher at 53 4 percent owing to one off boosts to production in a number of countries There are however specters at the feast the increase in global food and fuel prices amplified by drought affecting parts of the region has hit the budgets of the poor and sparked rising inflation and hesitations in the global recovery threaten to weaken export and growth prospects The projection for 2012 for the region is highly contingent on global economic growth being sustained at about 4 percent A further slowing of growth in advanced economies curtailing global demand would generate significant headwinds for the region s ongoing expansion with more globally integrated countries likely to be most affected Policies in the coming months need to tread a fine line between addressing the challenges that strong growth and recent exogenous shocks have engendered and warding off the adverse effects of another global downturn In some slower growing mostly middle income countries without binding financial constraints policies should clearly remain supportive of output growth even more so if global growth sputters Provided the global economy experiences the currently predicted slow and steady growth most of the region s low income countries should focus squarely on medium term considerations in setting fiscal policy while tightening monetary policy wherever nonfood inflation has climbed above single digits In the event of a global downturn subject to financing constraints policies in these countries should focus on maintaining planned spending initiatives while allowing automatic stabilizers to operate on the revenue side For the region s oil exporters better terms of trade provide a good opportunity to build up policy buffers against further price volatility African Economic Outlook 2011 Africa and its Emerging Partners OECD, African Development Bank, United Nations Economic Commission for Africa, United Nations Development Programme, 2011-06-06 This year s African Economic Outlook reviews recent economic social and political developments and the short term likely evolution of Africa The focus is on Africa s Emerging Economic Partnerships
