Perspectives On Education:

Critical Perspectives on Education, 2006 Perspectives on Learning, 5th Edition Denis Phillips, Jonas F.

Soltis, 2015-04-18 Rather than simply outlining the classical and modern theories of learning this widely adopted text brings the material to life through case studies that engage students in debates about what really happens in classrooms Students are encouraged to test the strengths and weaknesses of each theory so that ultimately they will learn to formulate their own philosophies of teaching and learning The new Fifth Edition of Perspectives on Learning features A discussion of common sense and learning theories A new chapter on Transfer of Learning Consideration of recent developments in brain science A thoroughly updated list of Recommendations for Further Reading Perspectives on Learning is one of the five books in the highly regarded Teachers College Press Thinking About Education Series now in its Fifth Edition All of the books in this series are designed to help pre and in service teachers bridge the gap between theory and practice D C Phillips is Professor of Education and Philosophy Emeritus School of Education at Stanford University Jonas F Soltis is William Heard Kilpatrick Professor Emeritus of Philosophy and Education at Teachers College Columbia University A great little book packed with conceptual contrasts and rich classroom vignettes The best resource I've found for teaching about theories of learning in a liberal arts college Jack Dougherty Trinity College Hartford CT A well written and readable book Phillips and Soltis should be commended for bringing together these various perspectives on learning that can be used by both pre service and in service teachers The case studies presented help illustrate the theories and should facilitate active class discussions The Professional Educator Children's Rights from International Educational Perspectives Jenna Gillett-Swan, Nina Thelander, 2021-12-01 This book critically examines contemporary educational practices with a children's rights lens Through investigating the factors that contribute to or hinder the realisation of children's rights in and through education in different contexts it discusses how using a rights framework for education furthers the agenda for achieving international educational aims and goals Using diverse international examples the book provides a snapshot of the complexity of children's rights and education It draws on the expertise of international research teams from Australia England Finland Italy Mexico Poland Portugal Scotland Spain Sweden Switzerland and the United States and highlights wide ranging interpretations of the same mandate across different national contexts Beginning with a critical overview of the broader context of children's rights in education the book explores obligations for States and their representatives tensions and convergences in implementation and implications for teaching and learning Using underutilised educational and theoretical concepts it contributes to broadening understandings of children's rights education and associated theoretical frameworks Despite a human rights framework emphasising the indivisibility interrelatedness and interconnectedness of all rights the right to education Article 28 dominates discussions about children's rights and education As such equally important rights including the aims of education Article 29 are often less considered or absent from the conversation Recognising that children's education rights involve more than just access and provision this book advocates for a much broader understanding of the nuances underpinning children's education related rights Chapter 10 is available open access under a Creative Commons Attribution 4.0 International License via link springer.com

International Perspectives in Educational Effectiveness Research James Hall, Ariel Lindorff, Pamela Sammons, 2020-08-24 This edited volume explores questions about what works how for whom when and why in education and considers how and to what extent such knowledge can be understood and extended across countries and different educational systems The book starts by presenting an overview of the history of educational effectiveness research and offers examples of current theories of educational effectiveness Next it provides exemplars of effectiveness studies that report on educational systems policies and practices from across six continents These studies vary in their research methods and outcomes illustrating a field of research that is conscious of its origins its agenda and its ambition to understand and improve the functioning of schools networks and education systems around the world The book brings these threads together within the final chapter and uses them to signpost directions for future research

International Perspectives in Educational Effectiveness Research is an excellent and timely addition to the educational effectiveness literature It offers a rigorous and insightful range of international perspectives that will be of interest to researchers policy makers and students of the field

Professor Christopher Chapman University of Glasgow UK President Elect of the International Congress for School Effectiveness and Improvement This important new volume brings up to date the contributions of educational effectiveness research to the development of policy and practice in the field over the last 50 years Drawing together the ideas of many of the major researchers in the field it provides a comprehensive analysis of these earlier contributions leading to critical commentaries that point to areas for future attention The editors make use of expertise from a range of disciplines to strengthen the themes that are addressed Most importantly the book emphasises the need to pay greater attention to the challenge of equity arguably the most significant challenge facing education systems internationally In this respect a particular strength of the book is the accounts provided from many different parts of the world These underline the importance of context a factor often previously overlooked in this field of research Given all of this I have no doubt that International Perspectives in Educational Effectiveness Research will become a major source for practitioners policy makers and researchers

Globalization and Education Nicholas C. Burbules, Carlos Alberto Torres, 2000 The legendary Greek figure Orpheus was said to have possessed magical powers capable of moving all living and inanimate things through the sound of his lyre and voice Over time the Orphic theme has come to indicate the power of music to unsettle subvert and ultimately bring down oppressive realities in order to liberate the soul and expand human life without limits The liberating effect of music has been a particularly important theme in twentieth century African American literature The nine original essays in Black Orpheus examines the Orphic theme in the fiction of such African American writers as Jean Toomer Langston Hughes Claude McKay James Baldwin Nathaniel Mackey Sherley Anne Williams Ann Petry Ntozake Shange Alice Walker Gayl Jones and Toni Morrison The authors discussed in this volume depict music as a mystical shamanistic and spiritual power that can miraculously transform the realities of the soul and of the world Here the musician uses his or her music as a weapon to shield and protect his or her spirituality Written by scholars of English music women s studies American studies cultural theory and black and Africana studies the essays in this interdisciplinary collection ultimately explore the thematic

Education Practice Bringing together the voices of scholars and practitioners on challenges and possibilities of implementing peace education in diverse global sites this book addresses key questions for students seeking to deepen their understanding of the field The book not only highlights ground breaking and rich qualitative studies from around the globe but also analyses the limits and possibilities of peace education in diverse contexts of conflict and post conflict societies Contributing authors address how educators and learners can make meaning of international peace education efforts how various forms of peace and violence interact in and around schools and how the field of peace education has evolved and grown over the past four decades Integrated and Holistic Perspectives on Learning, Instruction and Technology J.M. Spector, T.M. Anderson, 2005-12-17 One outcome of recent progress in educational technology is strong interest in providing effective support for learning in complex and ill structured domains We know how to use technology to promote understanding in simpler domains e g orientation information procedures with minimal branching etc but we are less sure how to use technology to support understanding in more complex domains e g managing limited resources understanding environmental impacts etc Such domains are increasingly significant for society Technology e g collaborative tele learning digital repositories interactive simulations etc can provide conceptually and functionally rich domains for learning However this introduces the problem of determining what works in which circumstances and why Research and development on these matters is reflected in this collection of papers This research suggests a need to rethink foundational issues in educational philosophy and learning technology One major theme connecting these papers is the need to address learning in the large from a more holistic perspective A second theme concerns the need to take learners where and as they are integrating technology into effective learning places Significant and systematic progress in learning support for complex domains demands further attention to these important issues
