British Military Planning for the Defence of Germany 1945-50 Paul Cornish, 1996-03-14 Using recently released archive material British Military Planning for the Defence of Germany 1945 50 reassesses Britain's strategy for the defence of Germany up to the outbreak of the Korean War Convinced of the capabilities of strategic air power with atomic weapons and convinced that the defence of the Middle East should be the first call on British planning Britain's military chiefs made a series of token gestures designed to boost French morale and consistently refused to make a genuine continental commitment of operational troops      The EU and Military Operations Katarina Engberg, 2013-10-30 This book is a comparative study which aims to answer the question under what circumstances does the EU undertake military operations Since 2003 the EU has carried out six military operations What accounts for this historic development The EU and Military Operations examines the dynamics behind the EU's collective use of force and situates the EU in the context of a global division of labour with regard to military crisis management It centres on the study of two main cases of EU military operations the non case when an operation was planned in the Lebanon war 2006 but did not occur and the positive case of EUFOR RD Congo that same year Drawing upon these findings the author creates an innovative analytical framework based
