Perspectives On Negotiation Four Case Studies And Interpretations:

Perspectives on Negotiation Diane B. Bendahmane, John W. McDonald, 1986 John W. Burton: A Pioneer in Conflict Analysis and Resolution David J. Dunn, Hans Günter Brauch, Pamela Burton, 2024-04-26 This book charts John W. Burton's transition from practitioner in diplomacy to pioneer in the theory of peace research thinking on world society and conflict resolution. Born in 1915, given his father's name, it was assumed that he would follow his father and become a Christian missionary. He did not; he joined the Australian Public Service. From a junior position, he rose rapidly. He was forthright and some found him irritating or worse. He progressed to the highest levels of policy making. Amidst some controversy, he resigned abruptly in 1951. He then worked on his farm outside Canberra, writing avidly. He did not intend to become an academic, but in 1963 he was offered a position in International Relations at University College in London and he accepted. He was key to the foundation of the International Peace Research Association (IPRA) in 1964 and of the Conflict Research Society in the UK because he thought that words and ideas were not enough; there needed to be instruments of change. Looking back, he was in fact a secular missionary. His aim: Simple: to change the world. This book is an exploration of how conflict should be reinterpreted. The ideas of his work are a product not of any metaphysical approach but of experience. Burton knew the field: Cold War diplomacy, civil strife, reforming organisations, resistance to change. He had been there and he found much to criticise. This book illustrates what he had to offer and explains why. These readings reveal shifts in his ideas cohering incrementally into a new framework. This book presents his pioneering and relevant work. Transcending disciplinary boundaries, it will be of interest to students as well as professionals who address conflict at all levels of society, from family to state.

The Multiple Realities of International Mediation Marieke Kleiboer, 1998 Recent experiences have demonstrated once again the complexities of brokering an end to deep-rooted ethnic and international conflicts as well as the difficulties of evaluating the outcomes of third-party interventions. Addressing these issues, this book offers a sophisticated approach to assessing mediation efforts and to reconstructing and interpreting mediation processes.

Perspectives on Negotiation Diane B. Bendahmane, John W. McDonald, 1986 Doing Research Daniel Druckman, 2005-03-16 Winner of the 2006 outstanding book award for books published in 2004-2005 from the International Association for Conflict Management at their annual meeting held in Montreal. An award-winning book, Doing Research is a must-read. Designed for students across a variety of social science disciplines, it is the first research methods text devoted to conflict analysis and resolution. It begins with a discussion of the philosophical foundations for doing research, providing guidelines on how to develop research questions and how these questions can be addressed with various methodologies. The book presents a wide-ranging treatment of both quantitative and qualitative approaches to the design and analysis of problems of conflict. The approaches covered include experiments, simulations, and models, surveys, single and comparative case studies, ethnographies, content analysis, narrative analysis, evaluation research, action research, and research consulting. These approaches come alive in a variety of applications culled from the published literature A concluding chapter provides an integration of the various methodologies including their complementary strengths Throughout the book author Daniel Druckman illustrates the value of a multi method approach to doing research on conflict analysis and more generally across the social sciences Key Features Guides readers through how to do literature reviews and ask research questions easing students into the research process Weaves together qualitative and quantitative as well as deductive and inductive approaches to analysis allowing for the widest possible diversity in methodology Includes numerous examples from published articles and dissertations and a discussion of research consulting Doing Research is perfectly suited as a text for research methods courses across the social sciences especially those dealing with conflict analysis in departments of political science communication psychology sociology and management Professional researchers and consultants will also want to add this book to their libraries for guidance on multi method techniques This is an extremely important book for our field because it is the first research methods book that focuses on techniques that are common in this area but transcends disciplines I am confident that the book will be used widely in our field because it is both practical and engaging William A Donohoe Michigan State University Doing Research is a gem It provides multiple research methods and models focusing on conflict analysis and resolution that can be used by any student in a variety of social science disciplines or fields of study I wish this book had been written 20 years ago Brian Polkinghorn Salisbury State University Doing Research is the most widely acclaimed book on research methods for conflict resolution students to appear in recent years The book provides a wonderfully rich array of ideas about ways to do research for both the scholar and practitioner pracademic enriching the analysis and practice in the conflict resolution field The author has a diverse intellectual background and his wide ranging research experience informs the contributions made by this book to conflict analysis and resolution and to related social science fields Sean Byrne University of Manitoba

Culture and International Conflict Resolution Tarja Vayrynen, 2001-12-07 The book will be of interest to students of conflict and peace studies both advanced undergraduate and postgraduate as well as students of International Relations studying conflict resolution Jacket

Guerrilla Veterans in Post-war Zimbabwe Norma J. Kriger, 2003-05-29 Zimbabwe's guerrilla veterans have burst into the international media as the storm troopers in Mugabe's new war of economic liberation In this book Norma Kriger gives the unfolding contemporary drama a historical background and shows continuities between the present and past Between 1980 and 1987 guerrilla veterans and the ruling party colluded with and manipulated each other to build power and privilege in the army police bureaucracy and among workers Both relied chiefly on violence and appeals to their participation in the anti colonial liberation war as they sought to vanquish their then political opponents Today violence and a liberation war discourse continue to be salient as Mugabe's party and its guerrilla veterans struggle to maintain power through land invasions and purges of a new political opposition This study gives a critical review of guerrilla programs and the war to peace transitions literatures thus changing the way we view post conflict societies

Great Negotiations Fredrik Stanton, 2010 8 key episodes in modern diplomacy Bowker's Law Books and Serials in Print 1988 R. R. Bowker, 1988 Perspectives on Negotiation: Four Case Studies and Interpretations: The Panama Canal Treaties, the Falkland Bendahmane, 1986 The Handbook of Interethnic Coexistence Eugene Weiner, 1998

Addresses the question of how ethnic groups and nations can coexist with one another without sacrificing their own identities and values The book offers both theoretical and practical resources for facilitating interethnic coexistence and contains an appendix with a bibliography and a list of organizations sponsoring coexistence work Boston University International Law Journal , 1995 Bibliographie Mensuelle United Nations Library (Geneva, Switzerland), 1987-05 Conflict Resolution Kevin Avruch, Peter W. Black, Joseph A. Scimecca, 1998-07-23 This unique collection of comparable case studies addresses the need to assess modes of conflict resolution in a larger sociocultural context with attention to varying approaches and cultural perspectives Editors Avruch Black and Scimecca along with other anthropologists and sociologists propose and test different propositions while looking toward a general theory of conflict and conflict resolution They offer a broad range of vantage points for considering conflict resolution in five different cultures Conflict resolution is seen as an emerging discipline

The Annual Review of Conflict Knowledge and Conflict Resolution , 1989 Foreign Affairs , 1986 U.S. Low-intensity Conflicts 1899-1990 , 1990 Peace, Democracy, and Human Rights in Colombia Christopher Welna, Gustavo Gallón Giraldo, 2007 Why has Colombia's internal war become so entrenched Why have peace efforts failed to produce durable agreements Why has Colombia's long standing democracy experienced such glaring failures This book addresses these questions and delves into the underlying politics of these issues Public Administration Series--Bibliography , 1989

Diplomacy Christer Jönsson, Richard Langhorne, 2004 The study of diplomacy in many respects the engine room of international relations has been marked by a revitalisation in recent years This brings together the seminal writings in the field to provide a unique reference work on this essential institution for the conduct of international affairs
