Perverse Incentives Theodore Caplow, 1994-08-30 Problems considered include careless design social technology health care public schools welfare criminal justice and compensation of injuries      Social Security in the 21st Century Eric R. Kingdon, 1997 Members of the National Academy of Social Insurance explain basic facts and offer an understanding of the complexities surrounding Social Security for educators students journalists policymakers and the general public After a historical and conceptual overview section chapters address commonly asked questions about Social Security considering issues such as means testing and the economic role of trust funds Other sections examine institutional and administrative issues and offer alternative perspectives Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR      Beyond Fake News Justin P. McBrayer, 2020-09-22 The world is swimming in misinformation Conflicting messages bombard us every day with news on everything from politics and world events to investments and alternative health The daily paper nightly news websites and social media each compete for our attention and each often insist on a different version of the facts Inevitably we have questions Who is telling the truth How would we know How did we get here What can we do Beyond Fake News answers these and other queries It offers a technological and market based explanation for how our informational environment became so polluted It shows how purveyors of news often have incentives to mislead us and how consumers of information often have incentives to be misled And it chronicles how as technology improves and the regulatory burdens drop our information scape becomes ever more littered with misinformation Beyond Fake News argues that even when we really want the truth our minds are built in such a way so as to be incapable of grasping many facts and blind spots mar our view of the world But we can do better both as individuals and as a society As individuals we can improve the accuracy of our understanding of the world by knowing who to trust and recognizing our limitations And as a society we can take important steps to reduce the quantity and effects of misinformation      The SAGE Encyclopedia of Business Ethics and Society Robert W. Incentive Measures for the Conservation and Sustainable Use of Biological Diversity Secretariat of the Convention on Biological Diversity, 2011 This publication addresses incentives that are harmful for biodiversity promotes positive incentive measures and provides case studies which include good practice cases Provided by publisher The War Against Regulation Phillip J. Cooper, 2009 A concise survey and analysis of presidential attempts over the last thirty years by Democrats and Republicans alike to dismantle the regulatory state that first appeared under FDR Argues that the war against regulation failed and that its excesses remind us of the value and proper role of regulation in American government Place Matters Peter Dreier, John H. Mollenkopf, Todd Swanstrom, 2004 Analyzes the problematic trends facing America's cities and older suburbs and challenges us to put America's urban crisis back on the national agenda Conservation Trusts Sally K. Fairfax, Darla Guenzler, 2001 In the wake of the Exxon Valdez oil spill a conservation trust helped stabilize and regenerate the damaged area When bird habitats along the Platte River were threatened by Grayrocks Dam a similar trust came to their rescue And if a family wants to protect its land for future generations establishing a trust may be the best solution For more than a century bequests of land and funds for environmental protection have been common but in recent decades the trusts used to address conservation issues and resolve environmental disputes have diversified and grown significantly This book examines a variety of conservation organizations built on or close to trust principles some government creations some private some combinations of the two to explain how conservation trusts are created and how they work It explores strengths and weaknesses of the trust concept considers the widespread use of land trusts and presents case studies that both illustrate successes and give instructive examples of potential pitfalls Drawing on cases from Maine to Hawaii the authors examine the different kinds and configurations of trusts They consider government trusts that blend federal state and local agencies into a single entity or that derive funding from outside legislative and executive channels trusts established by government and private cooperation to share responsibility for jointly held and managed resources and trusts established by private organizations and families For each type they explain why each is created how it operates and whether it has been proven effective They also address the important issue of accountability and consider when a trust is not the answer to a problem As more Americans reject federal control of land in favor of local determination land trusts have become the most popular tool for the preservation of land habitats and species And as the sharing of authority among public private and diverse government partners becomes more prevalent sound guidelines for establishing effective trusts are critical This book shows how the trust template provides an invaluable approach for future conservation efforts and is a primer for anyone involved in environmental management Sexual Harassment and the Law Augustus B. Cochran, 2004 This is much more than a story of a single case It provides a panoramic overview of the role of work in women's lives a succinct history of employment discrimination law and a penetrating analysis of the evolution of our views of sexual harassment in the workplace Karen O'Connor author of Women Politics and American Society After Vinson nothing was the same Cochran does a masterful job of setting the case in its historical context and exploring its legal impact Judith A Baer author of Our Lives before the Law Constructing a Feminist Jurisprudence Cochran is an exceptional raconteur and his book is comprehensive thorough and wonderfully forward looking Nancy Levit author of The Gender Line Men Women and the Law Investigations and Experience of M. Shawtinback, at Saar Soog, Sumatra Elton R. Smilie, 1879 Investing in Biological Diversity Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development, 1997 The Moral Hazard of Insuring the Insurers James G. Bohn, Brian J. Hall, 1997 State guaranty funds are quasi governmental agencies that provide insurance to policyholders against the risk of insurance company failure But insurance provided by guaranty funds like all insurance creates moral hazard problems especially for companies that are insolvent or near insolvent The key insight of this paper is that because of the time lag between premium payments and losses which is especially lengthy in long tail lines writing policies is one way for insurance companies to borrow money i e from policyholders Moreover the existence of guaranty fund insurance enables insurance companies even very risky ones to borrow from policyholders at rates that do not reflect the insurer's default risk Thus one way for insurance companies to game the guaranty fund system is to engage in excessive premium writing Consistent with this idea we find that insolvent P C insurance companies tended to have very high premium growth before they failed More than one third of the failed insurance companies had premium growth of more than 50 percent in the two years before failure Moreover this excessive premium growth was more pronounced in long tail lines than in short tail lines We also find evidence that greater regulatory resources are associated with less gaming of the system Beyond Fences: A resource book, 1997 The Manager's Bookshelf Jon Lepley Pierce, John W. Newstrom, 2008 The Manager's Bookshelf serves the needs of both current managers and students of Management For professionals and students alike The Manager's Bookshelf provides the vessel for expanding knowledge and is the perfect tool to search for further insights in more direct routes of management Microeconomics Roger LeRoy Miller, 1995 Taking a modern approach to teaching standard microeconomic theory this text uses a number of carefully selected real life examples both domestic and international from today's headlines to help facilitate students understanding of core economic concepts All mathematical equations and calculations are addressed in Maths Notepad features as well as in occasional calculus references in selected appendices The text brings the modern theory of the firm transaction costs the agency problem search theory asymmetric information game theory and bilaterals contracting into the standard discussion of firms and markets while also incorporating results from finance literature on how markets adjust to risk and uncertainty including the roles of futures and swap markets

Fisheries Management, 2009 These guidelines have been developed in response to requests for further information on the practical adoption and application of the ecosystem approach to fisheries EAF with a special focus on its human dimensions Human dimensions play four main roles in EAF 1 social economic and institutional objectives and factors are driving forces behind the need for EAF management 2 the costs and benefits to individuals and to society of applying the

EAF have social economic and institutional impacts and implications 3 the application of social economic and institutional instruments are all crucial for successful implementation of the EAF and 4 social economic and institutional factors present in fishery systems can play either supporting or constraining roles in EAF implementation      The Ethical Dimension of Financial Institutions and Markets Antonio Argandoña Rámiz, 1995-06-20 Discussing ethics applied to finance can become a trivial and selfjustifying task if left to the practical men or a task with no connection to reality if performed by philosophers This book however turns out to be an exciting piece of work useful provocative full of ideas and suggestions as experts in ethics discuss specific issues related to the financial institutions and markets with the men and women that carry out the daily practice in such institutions and markets as well as with scholars of economics and finance Thus the book covers everything from daily subjects to issues of a deeper nature using a simple and clear language with solid foundations in economics and ethics from a necessarily plural and open perspective      Urban Land ,2008      News Bulletin ,2008
