Pricing Export Credit Claudio Franzetti, 2021-05-07 Pricing of export credit is a challenge in the globalised world trade. Annual premia represent billions of euros or dollars and may determine competition. This book develops a rigorous new framework for pricing export credit products e.g. buyer and supplier credit insurance and performance and working capital guarantees based on well known financial and actuarial theories. It introduces the products the theories and the different data sources in order to apply the mathematical and financial ideas e.g. discounting risk neutral valuation and Merton type defaults. It shows the differences of historical experience and implicit market pricing assumptions. The well known OECD Arrangement is used as a benchmark for some part of the framework. Short code snippets in R are given in order to re perform the results and have a basis to try own ideas. Many unprecedented exhibits give new insights into the subject matter. The book is targeted at practitioners and actuaries in the field with a good quantitative background.

Assessment of Approaches to Updating the Social Cost of Carbon National Academies of Sciences, Engineering, and Medicine, Division of Behavioral and Social Sciences and Education, Board on Environmental Change and Society, Committee on Assessing Approaches to Updating the Social Cost of Carbon, 2016-03-26 The social cost of carbon SCC for a given year is an estimate in dollars of the present discounted value of the damage caused by a 1 metric ton increase in CO₂ emissions into the atmosphere in that year or equivalently the benefits of reducing CO₂ emissions by the same amount in that given year. The SCC is intended to provide a comprehensive measure of the monetized value of the net damages from global climate change from an additional unit of CO₂ including but not limited to changes in net agricultural productivity energy use human health effects and property damages from increased flood risk.
