George Orville, 2018-03-05 I received my bachelor of science degree in analytical chemistry from Wayne State University in Detroit Michigan My first full time employment after graduation was with Federal Food and Drug Administration The duties consisted of analyzing food and drugs that was being sold in the United States It also included in analyzing food products imported from foreign nations for any pest contamination The food products from large food producing manufacturers were also analyzed for pest contamination and content The drugs were analyzed for amount specified on labels There were numerous FDA laboratory districts established nationwide The Detroit district employed about forty analytical chemists and about forty to fifty inspectors Our district director emphasized on us the importance of our work Two of the important items mentioned to our occasional gathering emphasized the importance of FDA work One was the advent of sulfa drugs prior to antibiotics that were widely used and they were highly not soluble Someone at one of the manufacturing outfits figured out a way of dissolving the sulfa drugs in ethylene glycol car cooling system liquid highly poisonous This elixir was used on a ten year old boy who died due to the poison The other item he mentioned was an inspector at a tuna canning manufacturer observed how some decomposed sections of the fish were slowly incorporated into the final canned product It is a shame that these highly guarded human health districts have been closed This is why this book came about

Retooling for an Aging America Institute of Medicine, Board on Health Care Services, Committee on the Future Health Care Workforce for Older Americans, 2008-09-27 As the first of the nation's 78 million baby boomers begin reaching age 65 in 2011 they will face a health care workforce that is too small and woefully unprepared to meet their specific health needs Retooling for an Aging America calls for bold initiatives starting immediately to train all health care providers in the basics of geriatric care and to prepare family members and other informal caregivers who currently receive little or no training in how to tend to their aging loved ones The book also recommends that Medicare Medicaid and other health plans pay higher rates to boost recruitment and retention of geriatric specialists and care aides Educators and health professional groups can use Retooling for an Aging America to institute or increase formal education and training in geriatrics Consumer groups can use the book to advocate for improving the care for older adults Health care professional and occupational groups can use it to improve the quality of health care jobs Public health reports ,2005 U.S. News & World Report ,2007 MacUser ,1993-07
