Challenges and Opportunities for Deep Learning Applications in Industry 4.0 Vaishali Mehta, 2022-10-05 The competence of deep learning for the automation and manufacturing sector has received astonishing attention in recent times. The manufacturing industry has recently experienced a revolutionary advancement despite several issues. One of the limitations for technical progress is the bottleneck encountered due to the enormous increase in data volume for processing comprising various formats, semantics, qualities, and features. Deep learning enables detection of meaningful features that are difficult to perform using traditional methods. The book takes the reader on a technological voyage of the industry 4.0 space. Chapters highlight recent applications of deep learning and the associated challenges and opportunities it presents for automating industrial processes and smart applications. Chapters introduce the reader to a broad range of topics in deep learning and machine learning. Several deep learning techniques used by industrial professionals are covered, including deep feedforward networks, regularization, optimization algorithms, convolutional networks, sequence modeling, and practical project methodology. Readers will find information on the value of deep learning in applications such as natural language processing, speech recognition, computer vision, online recommendation systems, bioinformatics, and videogames. The book also discusses prospective research directions that focus on the theory and practical applications of deep learning in industrial automation. Therefore, the book aims to serve as a comprehensive reference guide for industrial consultants interested in industry 4.0 and as a handbook for beginners in data science and advanced computer science courses. Food in the Metaverse and Web 3.0 Era: Intersecting Food, Technology, and Culture Alhussaini Hamad, Ahmed M., Soni, Rashmi, 2025-02-13 In the ever-evolving landscape of technology, the emergence of the metaverse and web 3.0 is set to revolutionize how we interact, work, and eat. From virtual restaurants and augmented reality to personalized nutrition apps and blockchain-powered food traceability, the metaverse and web 3.0 are transforming the food industry. Digital dining experiences are on the rise, while social media and influencer culture continue to impact food trends. The potential of emerging technologies such as 3D food printing, lab-grown meat, and smart agriculture revolutionize the way we produce, distribute, and consume food. Further research into these technologies may reveal their impact on the future of food in the digital age. Food in the Metaverse and Web 3.0 Era: Intersecting Food, Technology, and Culture explores the intersection of food technology and culture, offering insights into the future of gastronomy and culinary experiences. It examines the evolving relationship between food and technology and encourages reimagined possibilities for the future of food. This book covers topics such as influencer marketing, food science, and machine learning and is a useful resource for computer engineers, data scientists, sociologists, business owners, healthcare workers, academicians, and researchers. Untargeted Alternative Routes of Arbovirus Transmission Julien Pompon, 2021-01-19 Arboviruses have become global threats. Common to Dengue, Zika, yellow fever, chikungunya, and Mayaro viruses is their ability to be transmitted by mosquitoes. Several strategies based on transgenics or microbiology are currently being field tested While this approach seems hopeful the research community needs to focus on potential backlash from these technologies to prevent failure The aim of the Special Issue is to cover different transmission routes that are untargeted by the newly developed strategies to foresee limitations Here Fontenille Powell gave their insights on how a mosquito species becomes a global vector Yen Failloux presented the limitations of Wolbachia based population replacement Pereira dos Santos et al reviewed the evidence that Aedes albopictus is an important vector and Diagne et al gathered information about the latest emerging arbovirus Mayaro Manuel et al demonstrated that in certain conditions mosquitoes efficiently transmit Zika viruses and Roza Lopez et al showed that midges vertically transmit stomatitis virus highlighting the epidemiological significance of vertical transmission Vector competence for secondary vectors was improved by Kosoltanapiwat et al during entomological surveillance and by Fernandes et al when evaluating different vector species competence for Zika viruses Morales Vargas et al and Calvez et al improved our understanding of DENV2 and DENV4 epidemiology
