Drummond, 2014-03 This Is A New Release Of The Original 1888 Edition      Divine Providence in Philo of Alexandria Peter Frick, 1999 In his study Peter Frick starts with the examination of the theocentric structure of Philo's thought as outlined in the important passage De Opificio Mundi 171-2 where Philo correlates the idea of providence with his concept of God and the theory of creation On this basis any adequate understanding of providence in Philo must begin with the correlation between the formal aspects of the Philonic concept of God especially the idea of God's transcendence and Philo's conceptualization of the idea of providence in light of these formal aspects In particular the issue is how Philo can predicate that God is provident in nature although God cannot be apprehended in his essence Moreover Philo explains the immanence of God in the cosmos in terms of the Logos and the divine powers one of which he specifically characterizes as the providential power Both the aspects of divine transcendence and immanence cohere in Philo's theory of creation He conceives of the role of providence in cosmological matters as being responsible for the design administration and continuous existence of the created universe Two further issues the questions of astral fatalism and theodicy are critically important for a thorough understanding of Philo's conception of divine providence Philo rejects the assumption implied in astral fatalism that the stars are transcendent divinities and thus have causal powers over human affairs And he rejects astral fatalism because it renders absurd the notion of moral responsibility Concerning the question of theodicy Philo proceeds from the Platonic premise that God is not the cause for evil in any way For him the existence of moral evil exonerates God and his providence as the cause for evil and anchors the blame in the person      Philo Judaeus; Or, the Jewish Alexandrian Philosophy in Its Development and Completion

James Drummond, 1888      Lords of the Scrolls: Literary Traditions in the Bible and Gospels Donald K. Sharpes, 2005 Lords of the Scrolls analyzes ancient literary sources to show how biblical and gospel scribes borrowed and imitated themes from earlier literature to create heroic legends around Hebrew figures and Jesus Comparisons between the Epic of Gilgamesh Enuma Elish Canaanite Egyptian and Greek legends Homeric epics the histories of Herodotus and selected biblical and gospel passages reveal thematic and literary similarities Tracing literary classics from the birth of writing to the first millennium of the modern era this book demonstrates that Hebrew scribes used previous literature to establish a national identity and that gospel scribes borrowed heavily from Homer to create epic legends around the person of Jesus      Philo Judaeus James Drummond, 2021-04-30      Bulletin of the Public Library of the City of Boston Boston Public Library, 1894 satisfied and even Gratz who thinks that he detects a few Christian interpolations does not place the account of the righteous man under suspicion In the absence then of undeniably Christian colouring or of clear allusion to Christian events we may accept the prevailing opinion that the work is of purely Jewish authorship Still less convincing is Mr Sharpe s statement that the author wrote after the conquest of Judaea by Vespasian as he says that God s people were crushed by their enemies In proof of this statement there is merely a reference to xv 14 Here however there is no mention of a conquest but only a general allusion to all the enemies that oppressed the Israelites and in the long historical retrospect which is thus opened there is nothing to show that the Romans are included Gratz is equally confident that the persecution under Caligula and the claims to divine honours advanced by that imperial fool come under the writer s hostile criticism The worship paid to the statues of kings is undoubtedly described f but it does not follow that the deification of the Roman Caesars was already known The deification of the Ptolemies preceded that of the Caesars J and the writer could Gesch der Jud III p 442 3 t xiv 16 20 J It is sufficient to refer to the inscription on the Eosetta stone in which the gods Soteris the gods Adelphi the gods Euergetae the gods Philopatores are mentioned and an order is given that the statue of the god Ptolemy Epiphanes shall be worshipped in every temple in Egypt and be carried out in the processions with those of the gods of the

Drama of the Divine Economy Paul M. Blowers,2012-10-11 The theology of creation interconnected with virtually every aspect of early Christian thought from Trinitarian doctrine to salvation to ethics Paul M Blowers provides an advanced introduction to the multiplex relation between Creator and creation as an object both of theological construction and religious devotion in the early church While revisiting the polemical dimension of Christian responses to Greco Roman philosophical cosmology and heterodox Gnostic and Marcionite traditions on the origin constitution and destiny of the cosmos Blowers focuses more substantially on the positive role of patristic theological interpretation of Genesis and other biblical creation texts in eliciting Christian perspectives on the multifaceted relation between Creator and creation Greek Syriac and Latin patristic commentators Blowers argues were ultimately motivated less by purely cosmological concerns than by the urge to depict creation as the enduring creative and redemptive strategy of the Trinity The drama of the divine economy which Blowers discerns in patristic theology and piety unfolded how the Creator invested the end of the world already in its beginning and thereupon worked through the concrete actions of Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit to realize a new creation Bulletin Boston Public Library,1894 Quarterly accession lists beginning with Apr 1893 the bulletin is limited to subject lists special bibliographies and reprints or facsimiles of original documents prints and manuscripts in the Library the accessions being recorded in a separate classified list Jan Apr 1893 a weekly bulletin Apr 1893 Apr 1894 as well as a classified list of later accessions in the last number published of the bulletin itself Jan 1896 Fountains of Wisdom Gerbern S. contribution to the field of biblical studies honoring the work of one of the most significant biblical scholars of his generation Divided into five sections this volume begins with a section on the Hebrew Bible and the New Testament texts with particular focus on the Gospel of John and Jesus studies The contexts of these texts are considered with a focus on the Greco Roman and Jewish worlds and the varying intersections between texts and the worlds that created them The contributors then focus on the most significant body of Charlesworth s work the apocrypha pseudepigrapha and the Dead Sea Scrolls and the journey concludes with an assessment of the history of scholarship on the core areas addressed across the book Echoes of

Scripture in the Letter of Paul to the Colossians Christopher A. Beetham, 2009-01-31 While the use of the Old Testament in the New Testament has captured the attention of biblical scholars over the years no study has been devoted to the presence of Scripture in Colossians largely because there are no explicit quotations in Colossians With the introduction of literary intertextuality into the discipline however scholars have begun to devote more attention to the NT authors less explicit references to Scripture often labelled as allusions and or echoes Scholars however continue to debate what constitutes an allusion or echo or how one validates a given proposal as such This study proposes new definitions of these terms and offers a methodology on how to detect and validate them using Colossians as a test case Bookseller's
