Arch.), Dieter Hezel, 1988 Philip Johnson/John Burgee Philip Johnson, John Burgee, 1985

The past decade has witnessed the realization of Philip Johnson and John Burgee's most innovative buildings in their eighteen year professional collaboration. No single architectural team has had a stronger impact on the shape of the American skyline. Their impressive output makes an updated volume on their work timely and welcome both to the architectural community and to the interested public. The twenty five projects featured in this volume include high rise office buildings and urban complexes, colleges and cultural centers, commercial and religious monuments. A distinctive and highly varied repertory emerges: the Romanesque ensemble of the New Cleveland Playhouse, the neoclassical AT&T mansard roofed skyscraper in San Francisco adorned with classical statues, the Dutch gabled Republic Bank Center in Houston, Boston's village of skyscrapers, International Place at Fort Hill and that major twentieth century space in Garden Grove, California, the steel and glass Crystal Cathedral. The volume also features buildings currently in production and under construction such as the triple tiered oval shaped office building on Fifty third Street and Third Avenue in New York, a very creative manipulation of the New York City zoning laws and the new home of John Burgee Architects with Philip Johnson. The illustrated main text is supplemented by a chronological index providing in capsule form a history of their major built projects from dust jacket.

in the Glass House Mark Lamster, 2018-11-06 A smoothly written and fair minded Wall Street Journal biography of architect Philip Johnson a finalist for the National Book Critics Circle Award When Philip Johnson died in 2005 at the age of 98 he was still one of the most recognizable and influential figures on the American cultural landscape The first recipient of the Pritzker Prize and MoMA's founding architectural curator Johnson made his mark as one of America's leading architects with his famous Glass House in New Caanan CT and his controversial AT T Building in NYC among many others in nearly every city in the country but his most natural role was as a consummate power broker and shaper of public opinion Johnson introduced European modernism the sleek glass and steel architecture that now dominates our cities to America and mentored generations of architects designers and artists to follow He defined the era of starchitecture with its flamboyant buildings and celebrity designers who esteemed aesthetics and style above all other concerns But Johnson was also a man of deep paradoxes he was a Nazi sympathizer a designer of synagogues an enfant terrible into his old age a populist and a snob His clients ranged from the Rockefellers to televangelists to Donald Trump Award winning architectural critic and biographer Mark Lamster's The Man in the Glass House lifts the veil on Johnson's controversial and endlessly contradictory life to tell
