Readings in Reading Instruction Richard David Robinson, 2005 This brief thought provoking collection evaluates historical perspectives in reading to show how current reading practices have developed over time and provides an understanding of the development of significant issues in the field of literacy education Richard Robinson carefully chose 46 selections with several aims in mind to include the historical perspective so often neglected in other texts to explain the evolution of reading practices and ideas across time as well as in terms of pedagogical development and to illustrate the developing nature of literacy education Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading Peter Afflerbach, 2015-08-11 The central unifying theme of this state of the art contribution to research on literacy is its rethinking and reconceptualization of individual differences in reading Previous research focused on cognitive components of reading signaled the need for ongoing work to identify relevant individual differences in reading to determine the relationship's of individual differences to reading development and to account for interactions among individual differences Addressing developments in each of these areas this volume also describes affective individual differences and the environments in which individual differences in reading may emerge operate interact and change The scant comprehensive accounting of individual differences in reading is reflected in the nature of reading instruction programs today the outcomes that are expected from successful teaching and learning and the manner in which reading development is assessed An important contribution of this volume is to provide prima facie evidence of the benefits of broad conceptualization of the ways in which readers differ The Handbook of Individual Differences in Reading moves the field forward by encompassing cognitive non cognitive contextual and methodological concerns Its breadth of coverage serves as both a useful summary of the current state of knowledge and a guide for future work in this area Evaluating Literacy Instruction Rachael E. Gabriel, Richard L. Allington, 2017-09-19 This must read book for all literacy educators illuminates the intersection of research on literacy instruction and teacher evaluation Since 2009 46 states have changed or revised policies related to evaluating teachers and school leaders In order for these new policies to be used to support and develop effective literacy instruction resources are needed that connect the best of what is known about teaching literacy with current evaluation policies and support practices A major contribution to meeting this need the volume brings together a range of perspectives on tools systems and policies for the evaluation of teaching organized into two sections Crafting Systems and Policies for Evaluating Literacy Instruction Examples of Alternative Systems Approaches for Evaluating Literacy Instruction Across the text expert scholars in the field emphasize the need for literacy professionals to do more than merely apply generic observation instruments for teacher evaluation but also to consider how these tools reflect professional values how elements of effective literacy instruction can be unearthed or included within them and how teacher evaluation systems and policies can be used to increase students opportunities to develop literacy Spatial Citizenship Education Euikyung E. Shin, Sarah Witham Bednarz, 2018-09-21 Spatial Citizenship Education is an innovative exploration of ways to engage and promote citizenship through a deeper understanding of spatial and geographic perspectives The authors propose that recognizing the relationship between space and citizenry enables productive and positive engagement with important societal issues such as equity justice and environmental stewardship By providing a historical overview of geography's contribution to citizenship education including progress made and challenges faced by educational reform movements this collection shows how geography can contribute to a new type of citizen one with an enhanced understanding of the world as seen through the key concepts of geography space place scale power and human environment relationships Through a theoretical explanation of key citizenship ideas and by providing practical classroom based teaching tools this volume will be essential for geography education researchers and social studies educators alike Reading Horizons ,2008 Issues and Trends in Literacy Education Richard David Robinson, Michael C. McKenna, 2008 This issues reader presents current information on critical trends and developments in literacy education to help teachers choose and articulate their own informed approach to reading education Now in its Fourth Edition Issues and Trends in Literacy Education continues to present a wide variety of opinions and positions in all crucial aspects of reading and writing education This new edition includes up to date discussions on current topics such as fluency the use of technology in reading and multicultural literacy among others Renowned authors Dick Robinson Mike McKenna and Judy Wedman gear students to success by presenting scrupulously researched material that meets the NCATE International Reading Association requirements for accreditation of graduate reading programs A Letter to Students from the Authors Dear Reader The authors of this literacy education textbook welcome you to the study of this important aspect of instruction You are probably quite aware of the many current controversial topics in literacy such as assessment the use of technology and approaches to the teaching of reading skills This new edition of Issues and Trends in Literacy Educationwas organized around a number of the most critical questions in the current field Articles in each of these areas were selected primarily on the basis of providing you the reader with the latest information as well as varying opinions on a wide variety of literacy topics One of the primary goals of this book is for you to use these readings as a springboard for further investigation in topics that interest you related to effective literacy instruction Each of the chapters includes a selection of related readings for additional study in a particular area of reading education These can be used for in depth study as well as a basis for personal research and writing of related class papers and presentations The field of literacy education is a rapidly expanding and changing area in education We hope you find the materials in this book to be both challenging and interest as you continue your study of this field Thank you Dick Robinson Mike McKenna Journal of Developmental Education ,2010

Handbook of Reading Disability Research Anne McGill-Franzen, Richard Allington, 2010-09-17 Bringing together a wide range of research on reading disabilities this comprehensive Handbook extends current discussion and thinking beyond a narrowly defined psychometric perspective Emphasizing that learning to read proficiently is a long term developmental process involving many interventions of various kinds all keyed to individual developmental needs it addresses traditional questions What is the nature or causes of reading disabilities How are reading disabilities assessed How should reading disabilities be remediated. To what extent is remediation possible but from multiple or alternative perspectives Taking incursions into the broader research literature represented by linguistic and anthropological paradigms as well as psychological and educational research the volume is on the front line in exploring the relation of reading disability to learning and language to poverty and prejudice and to instruction and schooling The editors and authors are distinguished scholars with extensive research experience and publication records and numerous honors and awards from professional organizations representing the range of disciplines in the field of reading disabilities Throughout their contributions are contextualized within the framework of educators struggling to develop concrete instructional practices that meet the learning needs of the lowest achieving readers Catalog of Copyright Entries.
