Library Services for Open and Distance Learning Marie Kascus, ALEXANDE L.

SLADE, 2000-06-15 As the electronic era blurs the boundaries between conventional and distance education and between remote and in person library users the literature on library issues and distance learning has proliferated immensely This work helps you keep abreast of the phenomenal changes taking place in the field of education and the issues they raise for libraries Identifying and describing more than 750 works published since its precursor was completed in 1995 the book provides a comprehensive record of the current literature about distance and open learning in post secondary education programs

The authors cover all types of materials from around the world ranging from brief news items to major research reports and dissertations In this edition special emphasis is given to web based distance education Access is provided through four indexes author geographical institution and subject and indexes are cumulative from the previous two bibliographies

Improving Internet Reference Services to Distance Learners Rita Pellen, William Miller, 2014-06-03 In their efforts to provide distance learners with the most effective services possible librarians and information specialists are working more and more with faculty in academic departments IT departments and other librarians at cooperating institutions

Improving Internet Reference Services to Distance Learners chronicles how those efforts have seen librarians become actively involved in online course management and delivery systems particularly Blackboard Desire2Learn and WebCT or by embedding themselves into the online course structure to better learn where students need assistance This invaluable resource also examines how librarians use Internet resources to support professional and continuing education and to establish university wide information and referral services to provide quality service to distance learners Improving Internet Reference Services to Distance Learners encourages librarians to think more broadly about working with outside individuals when designing and providing reference and other services to nontraditional users The book examines why it s best to consider user needs funding staff management and collaboration development when planning Internet reference services how to develop and implement a required credit bearing online information literacy course and how to apply effective marketing techniques from the business world to increase awareness of reference support services available to distance learners It also offers a look at the Walden University Library at Indiana University Bloomington which houses no print collection only online databases and includes case studies that document the design and development of Internet reference services for the University of Illinois Fire Service Institute and the efforts to provide support for doctor of pharmacy students at the University of Wisconsin Madison in their final year of study Improving Internet Reference Services to Distance Learners provides practical information on monitoring online discussion threads devoted to library research Web based interactive tutorials integrating library services in support of coursework integrating library services into online courses offering promoting and providing instruction to public users as well as local and distance students developing a web site that centralizes information about library services and resources the potential of the academic library to be the central provider of information and referral services for an entire university Improving Internet Reference Services to Distance Learners is an invaluable resource for librarians working in academic school special and public settings and for library science faculty and students Computers in Libraries , Portal ,2002 American Reference Books Annual, 2002 Bohdan S.
