Realizing Community Concepts Social Relationships And Sentiments:

Realizing Community Vered Amit, 2002 Contributes various new analyses and approaches to the issue of community such as destabilization in the global context cultural absoluteness separation of community and culture compartmentalized communities Conceptualising community Vered Amit, 2001 Cocoon Communities Fred Dervin, Mari Korpela, 2013-02-14 Filling a gap in the literature on communities this innovative and critical volume proposes the concept of Cocoon Communities Cocoon communities are highly significant for its members and yet not binding Membership is voluntary and informal Weaving together interdisciplinary perspectives the contributors offer theoretical perspectives and research findings on communities of international students online mourners farmworkers expatriates and Westerners in India The volume will be of great interest to scholars and students in anthropology education social psychology and sociology

Knowing How to Know Narmala Halstead, Eric Hirsch, Judith Okely, 2008-04-01 This volume examines some crucial issues in the conduct of fieldwork and ethnography and provides new insights into the problems of constructing anthropological knowledge How is anthropological knowledge created from fieldwork whose knowledge is this who determines what is of significance in any ethnographic context and how is the fieldsite extended in both time and place Nine anthropologists examine these problems drawing on diverse case studies These range from the dilemmas of the religious refashioning of the ethnographer in contemporary Indonesia to the embodied knowledge of ballet performers and from ignorance about post colonial ritual innovations by the anthropologist in highland Papua to the skilled visions of slow food producers in Italy It is a key text for new fieldworkers as much as for established researchers The anthropological insights developed here are of interdisciplinary relevance cultural studies scholars sociologists and historians will be as interested as anthropologists in this re evaluation of fieldwork and the project of ethnography Community Resources Johanna Gibson, 2016-12-05 Protection of traditional knowledge and resources is of critical concern not only to the groups involved but also to the international trading community for which these resources are of increasing economic importance This work examines the concept of community intellectual property models and additional sources for protection at international law including environmental and human rights frameworks Intellectual property law is critiqued as an inadequate framework to address the fundamental object of protection for the communities themselves the management of traditional use as well as the biological and cultural sustainability of this use The work sets out an international framework based on the concept of community resources recognizing the unique claims embodied in traditional knowledge incorporating customary law and facilitating community management of resources International in perspective and scope the book will be a valuable resource for academics and researchers in law international relations and cultural studies The Seductions of Community Gerald W. Creed, 2006 The concept of community is ubiquitous in the way we talk and think about life in the twenty first century Political and economic projects from rainforest conservation to urban empowerment zones focus on the community as the appropriate vehicle and target of change Some scholars see a decline of community and predict dire social consequences others criticize the concept itself for its ideological baggage and lack of clear definition Moving the debate to a deeper level the contributors to this volume aspire to understand the various ways community is deployed and the work it performs in different contexts They compare the many cases where scholars and activists use community generically with instances in which the notion of community is less pervasive or even non-existent How does a community facilitate governance or capital accumulation In what ways does it articulate these two forces in local and translocal contexts What are the unintended consequences of deploying the concept and what too are the potential consequences of criticizing our fascination with it

Community Identity and Archaeology Naoise Mac Sweeney, 2011-10-25 Exploring the notion of community identity in an archaeological context Herrschaft und Genossenschaft Frank Schulz-Nieswandt, 2003 Risikolagen und vulnerable Gruppen gab es zu allen Zeiten und Orten Soziale Fragen die gestaltend bewältigt werden wollen existierten in allen kulturellen Räumen Die elementaren Formen in denen auf diese Herausforderungen in den unterschiedlichen Kulturen reagiert wurden sind morphologisch ähnlich Frank Schulz Nieswandt nimmt diesen Tatbestand zum Anlass aus anthropologischem Blickwinkel zwei archetypische Urformen sozialer Politik zu betrachten Herrschaft und Genossenschaft Im Mittelpunkt erschließt der Autor die strukturelle Formenlehre sozialer Politik im Dualismus des gemeinorientalischen Typus der vertikalen Wohltätigkeit von oben Barmherzigkeit und des griechisch-römischen Typus der genossenschaftsartigen Hilfe auf Gegenseitigkeit Bürger Egalität aber auch als maskulin-agonale res publica Aus diesen archetypischen Urkategorien heraus differenzieren sich die beiden elementaren Formen als Typen vertikaler und horizontaler Reziprozität Die herausgestellten Archetypen leben heute noch fort beispielsweise in der steuerfinanzierten staatlichen Transferpolitik bedürftigkeitsgeprägte Sozialhilfe und der asymmetrischen freiwilligen Wohltätigkeit sowie in der sozialversicherungsartigen Risikovergemeinschaftung und in Kleingenossenschaften der sozialen Selbsthilfe Allen diesen differenzierten Formen sozialen Helfens und sozialer Risikobewältigung gemein ist ihr Ursprung in dem Gabemechanismus als conditio humana

Community and Utopia Robert Thomas Schechtman, 2008 The Trouble With Community Vered Amit, Nigel Rapport, 2002-08-20 Community is one of social science's longest standing concepts The assumption of much social science has been that humans belong in communities as social and cultural beings The trouble with community is that this is not necessarily so the personal social networks of individuals actual experience crosscut collective categories situations and institutions Communities can prove unviable or imprisoning the reality of community life and identity can often be very different from the ideology and the ideal In this book the authors draw on their ethnographic experiences to reappraise the concept and the reality of community in the light of globalisation religious fundamentalism identity politics and renascent localisms How might anthropology better apprehend social identities which are intrinsically plural transgressive and ironic What has anthropology to say about the way in which civil society might hope to accommodate the ongoing construction and the rightful expression of such migrant identities Citizenship, Political Engagement, and Belonging Deborah Reed-Danahay, Caroline Brettell, 2008 Bringing together a transcontinental group of anthropologists this book provides an in depth look at the current processes of immigration political behavior and citizenship in both the United States and Europe Essays draw on issues of race national identity religion and more while addressing questions including How should citizenship be defined In what ways do immigrants use the political process to achieve group aims And how do adults and youth learn to become active participants in the public sphere Creating Communities Daniela Hofmann, Penny Bickle, 2009 The aim of this book is to raise questions about the investigation of identity community and change in prehistory and to challenge the current state of debate in Central European Neolithic archaeology Although the LBK is one of the best researched Neolithic cultures in Europe here the material is used in order to further explore the interconnection between individuals households settlements and regions explicitly addressing questions of Neolithic society and lived experience By embracing a variety of approaches and voices this volume draws out some of the cross cutting concerns which unite LBK studies in their different regional research contexts and paves the way for further debate on the subject Journal of the First-year Experience & Students in Transition, 2013 Transforming Or Reforming Capitalism John Loxley, 2007 Growing worldwide interest in community economic development has led to a blossoming of how to manuals as well as analyses of co operatives development corporations gender financing etc Yet in all this discussion very little is said about the basic objective of CED Is it designed to fill holes left by capitalism or is it intended to replace it There is equally little on a theory of CED This book draws on several disciplines particularly economics sociology and political studies to assess the state of CED theory and to identify implicit issues for building that theory It emphasizes the necessity to draw theoretical insights from each discipline in the process howing the efficacy of interdisciplinary approaches It concludes with a discussion of both future theoretical directions and of what existing theory has to say about achieving a transformative CED pub website

Tai Lands and Thailand Andrew Walker, 2009 Studies of the Tai world often treat state and community as polar opposites the state produces administrative uniformity and commercialization while community sustains tradition local knowledge and subsistence economy This assumption leads to the conclusion that the traditional community is undermined by the modern forces of state incorporation and market penetration States rule and communities resist This book takes a very different view Using thematic and ethnographic studies from Thailand Laos Burma and southern China the authors describe modern forms of community where state power intersects with markets livelihoods and aspirations Modern community is not easily created nor is it inevitable but rapid social and economic change in the Tai world has provided many opportunities for new forms of communal belonging to emerge Tai Lands and Thailand opens up fresh perspectives on a region in transition and the discussion promises to inform future studies of contemporary sociality in Southeast Asia

Imagining Communities in Thailand Shigeharu Tanabe, 2008 This book explores newly emerging communities and the new practices knowledge and power relations that can no longer be explained adequately by the conventional conception of community In the early 1980s Benedict Anderson coined the term imagined communities to examine the creation and global spread of the nation state as a collective fiction constructed in the homogeneous and empty time of modernity Set against this conceptual background the present volume focuses on the processes of imaging communities to explore how people imagine and create their own sense of knowledge power and identity The essays in this volume consider the communal relations and properties of newly emerging or transforming communities associations and networks the imagined family in shaping the modern Thai nation state the Asoke community of a new Buddhist movement a Karen millenarian Buddhist community on the Thai Myanmar border networks of producers and sellers in the Night Bazaar of Chiang Mai female factory workers in Lamphun and HIV AIDS self help groups of northern Thailand Taken together these case studies demonstrate the possibilities of new communities in Thailand and provide a key reference for both students and scholars concerned with a critical approach to sociology history development studies Southeast Asian studies and anthropology Ethnologia Europaea ,2009 Directory of Published Proceedings ,2003 Active Citizenship and Multiple Identities in Europe Danny Wildemeersch,Veerle Stroobants,2005 Two major themes are addressed in this book The first one is on Journal of the Royal Australian Historical Society Royal Australian Historical Society,2007 Includes the Society s Annual report and statement of accounts
