Reasoning And Discourse Processes:

Reasoning and Discourse Processes Terry Myers, 1986      Discourse Processes between Reason and Emotion Patrizia Anesa, Aurora Fragonara, 2021-05-08 This book addresses different forms of discourse by analysing the emergence of power dynamics in communication and their importance in shaping the production and reception of messages The chapters focus on specific cognitive aspects such as the verbal expression of reasoning or emotions as well as on linguistic and discursive processes The interaction between reasoning feelings and emotions is described in relation to several fields of discourse where power dynamics may emerge and includes among others political media and academic discourse This volume aims to include representative instances of this heterogeneity and is deeply rooted both theoretically and methodologically in the acknowledgment that the investigation of the complex interaction between reason and emotion in discursive productions cannot be exempt from the adoption of a multi disciplinary perspective By providing a critical reflection of their methodological decisions and describing the implications of their research projects the contributors offer insights which are relevant for students researchers and practitioners operating in the broad field of discourse studies      Mental Models in Discourse Processing and Reasoning G. Rickheit, C. Habel, 1999-10-29 In this interdisciplinary discussion on mental models researchers from various areas in cognitive science tackle the following questions What is a mental model What are the prospects and limitations in applying the mental model notion in cognitive science How can the ideas on the nature of mental models and their mode of operation be empirically substantiated The primary goal of the research group was to work out a definition of mental models that embraces the overall use of this construct in cognitive science as well as the more specific conceptions used in particular research domains such as cognitive linguistics Theoretical claims about the properties of mental models were discussed and their tenability evaluated against the empirical evidence The volume is divided into three parts Fundamental aspects of mental models are presented in the first section the following part contains contributions to the function of mental models in discourse processing and finally problems of mental models in reasoning and problem solving are outlined      Challenges of Discourse Processing Patrick Saint-Dizier, 2014-03-17 Discourse analysis remains an unresolved challenge in Computational Linguistics in spite of the numerous theoretical works that have been developed in the past two decades This situation is mainly due to the complexity of discourse constructions whose recognition often involves language analysis associated with domain knowledge and reasoning Technical documents such as procedures requirements and product manuals must be relatively constrained in terms of language diversity and complexity the goal is to make sure that users can efficiently and accurately understand these documents For that purpose these documents often follow authoring guidelines These constraints make it possible to develop an accurate discourse analysis of technical documents which can be used to model their contents and to improve their overall quality This book shows that linguistic analysis and natural language processing methods can efficiently be used to automatically recognize the discourse structures of technical documents independently of the industrial sector and activity that is considered Furthermore the book presents well founded and concrete solutions which can be deployed in industrial contexts for various types of applications This book begins with a presentation of the different types of technical texts Their structure is then developed in conjunction with a survey of a number of authoring guidelines developed in the industry The TextCoop platform and the Dislog language designed for discourse analysis are then presented with a large number of concrete examples allowing readers to develop their own applications The book concludes with an in depth investigation of the structure of procedures and requirements

Discourse Processes Between Reason and Emotion Patrizia Anesa, Aurora Fragonara, 2021 This book addresses different forms of discourse by analysing the emergence of power dynamics in communication and their importance in shaping the production and reception of messages The chapters focus on specific cognitive aspects such as the verbal expression of reasoning or emotions as well as on linguistic and discursive processes The interaction between reasoning feelings and emotions is described in relation to several fields of discourse where power dynamics may emerge and includes among others political media and academic discourse This volume aims to include representative instances of this heterogeneity and is deeply rooted both theoretically and methodologically in the acknowledgment that the investigation of the complex interaction between reason and emotion in discursive productions cannot be exempt from the adoption of a multidisciplinary perspective By providing a critical reflection of their methodological decisions and describing the implications of their research projects the contributors offer insights which are relevant for students researchers and practitioners operating in the broad field of discourse studies Patrizia Anesa is a researcher in English Language and Translation at the University of Bergamo Italy She holds a PhD in English Studies with a specialisation in professional communication Her research interests lie mostly in the area of specialised discourse and in particular in the investigation of knowledge asymmetries in expert lay communication Aurora Fragonara is an adjunct lecturer in French Language and Linguistics at the University of Bergamo and the University of Milan Italy She holds a PhD in Linguistics from the research centre CREM at the University of Lorraine France Her main research interests are French discourse analysis and enunciation theory which she combines with cognitive linguistics pragmatics and semiotics

Meaning Making Timothy Koschmann, 2018-12-07 This special issue focuses on the difficult problem of how observers and researchers can make sense of how collaborating participants develop a shared understanding both of their task and their own participation in it Or stated in another way how can we derive meaning from their emergent and situated meaning making Meaning making has been studied under a variety of names and can be conceptualized on different levels of abstraction and from a variety of perspectives The goal is to attempt to tease apart some of these views while at the same time seeking means to bring them together in order to provide a more fully elaborated picture This issue comes with downloadable resources containing the brief video segment which all authors analyzed in the preparation of their contributions

Rethinking Context Alessandro Duranti, 1992-05-21 The last decade has seen a fundamental rethinking of the concept of context Rather than functioning solely as a constraint on linguistic performance context is now also analysed as a product of language use In this new perspective language and context are seen as interactively achieved phenomena rather than predefined sets of forms and contents The essays in this collection written by many of the leading figures in the social sciences critically reexamine the concept of context from a variety of different angles and propose new ways of thinking about it with reference to specific human activities such as face to face interaction radio talk medical diagnosis political encounters and socialisation practices Each essay is prefaced by an introduction by the editors which provides relevant theoretical and methodological background and demonstrates its relation to other essays in the volume The editors general introduction provides a lucid overview of the issues currently debated Rethinking Context will be required reading for everyone working within the fields of linguistic anthropology sociolinguistics discourse analysis pragmatics conversation analysis and the sociology of language

Vergleich und Leistung in der funktional differenzierten Gesellschaft Christopher Dorn, Veronika Tacke, 2017-11-11 Die moderne Gesellschaft beruht hinsichtlich ihrer ausgeprägten Leistungs- und Vergleichsorientierung auf allen ihren Vorläufern. Dabei ist jedoch zu prüfen, ob dies gleichermaßen für alle gesellschaftlichen Bereiche gilt, welche Unterschiede und Gemeinsamkeiten sich beobachten lassen. Die Beiträge des Bandes beschreiben Leistungsvergleiche bzw. Verhältnisse von Leistung und Vergleich in verschiedenen gesellschaftlichen Teilsystemen und beleuchten es zugleich an ausgewählten sozialen Strukturbildungen wie Staaten, Organisationen oder Professionen. Gefragt wird neben den jeweiligen Funktionen und Folgen auch nach Brüchen, Konflikten und Grenzen der leistungsbezogenen Vergleichslogik.

Encyclopedia of Creativity Mark A. Runco, Steven R. Pritzker, 2020-04-12 Creativity influences each of our lives and is essential for the advancement of society. The first edition of the successful Encyclopedia of Creativity helped establish the study of creativity as a field of research in itself. The second edition, published in 2011, was named a 2012 Outstanding Academic Title by the American Library Association's Choice publication. Featuring 232 chapters across 2 volumes, the third edition of this important work provides updated information on the full range of creativity research. There has been an enormous increase in research on the topic throughout the world in many different disciplines. Some areas covered in this edition include the arts and humanities, business, education, mental and physical health, neuroscience, psychology, the creative process, and technology. Fundamental subjects are discussed such as the definition of creativity, the development and expression of creativity across the lifespan, the environmental conditions that encourage or discourage creativity, the relationship of creativity to mental health, intelligence, and learning styles, and the process of being creative. Creativity is discussed within specific disciplines including acting, architecture, art, dance, film, government, interior design, magic, mathematics, medicine, photography, science, sports, tourism, and writing. A wide range of topics are covered.
