Measuring the Digital Transformation A Roadmap for the Future OECD, 2019-03-11 Measuring the Digital Transformation A Roadmap for the Future provides new insights into the state of the digital transformation by mapping indicators across a range of areas from education and innovation to trade and economic and social outcomes against current digital policy issues as presented in Going Digital Shaping Policies Improving Lives Programming Standards and Guidelines Barry K.

National Research Council (U.S.). Committee on the Federal Role in College Science Education of Non-specialists, 1982 This report is derived from a study of the Federal Role in College Science Education of Non Specialists and concerns a vital area of education in U S colleges which has not received the emphasis it deserves Attention has been paid to making certain that majors in science or engineering have breadth and depth in the humanities and social sciences but an equal effort has not been given to ensuring that college students planning careers in law business journalism etc have course work in science The issues involved in preparing opinion leaders to be knowledgeable in science and technology need to be addressed by both the public and private sectors The authors of this report in addressing these issues believe that it is in the national interest to help non science majors develop an understanding of science and technology They also include in their discussion some suggestions for future action Author PEB Library of Congress Catalogs Library of Congress, 1981 International
