Progreb In Drug Research Volume 37 Progreb In Drug Research:

Reimagining Mental Health and Addiction Under the Covid-19 Pandemic, Volume 1 Dionisio Nyaga, Rose Ann Torres, 2024-07-13 This edited collection is a follow up to Algoma University's inaugural conference on mental health and addiction held at the Brampton campus in Ontario Canada. We live in a society where many marginalized communities continue to bear a historically disproportionate burden on their psychological, mental, and economic well-being, especially under the Covid-19 pandemic. Covid-19 has had a continuing impact on marginalized and racialized communities at all levels. We are now witnessing the compounded effects in the form of a worsening mental health and addiction crisis and its subsequent impact on children's education, service delivery, and overall psychosocial well-being. Covid-19 has widened the gap and increased poverty disparities between high-income and low-income individuals. Furthermore, it has affected the psychosocial resilience of people. As communities of scholars, practitioners, and researchers, we have a responsibility to address these existential issues in ways that are ethical and transformative. This type of engagement should help mitigate the consequences of the pandemic in an intersectional manner. These conversations should assist us in understanding and addressing the trauma and suffering that marginalized communities and individuals continue to endure. Together, we can work to find answers to mental health and addiction challenges while valuing people's histories and realities within this intersectional engagement. This book aims to redefine psychiatric discourse in the age of the pandemic and encourage us to imagine how the world can be reformed in ways that are both ethical and political. It has the potential to shed light on the values and realities of communities in discussions of medical sociology, particularly concerning the impact of Covid-19 on marginalized communities. This book is structured into three volumes. Volume one delves into the repercussions of the COVID-19 pandemic on the mental health of various ethnic groups. Volume two specifically addresses the impact of the pandemic on the mental health of Afro-Black individuals. Volume three explores the connections between the COVID-19 pandemic, psychological well-being, and colonialism.

 Volumes 18 and 19 of Progress in Drug Research differed from the earlier volumes insofar as they were concerned almost exclusively with problems in the field of Tropical Medicine The editor and publishers believed that in this way some contribution could be made to the solution of some of the many problems with which the developing countries are burdened The 20th volume however is in the customary form it contains 17 contributions from various areas of drug research and therapy Whereas the articles concentrate on a short representation of the progress which has already been made nevertheless reference is also made to the many unsolved problems within the particular areas The editor hopes that the 20th volume will not only represent a comprehensive review but will also be of some use in focusing further investigations on problems of medicine that have still not been overcome The editor would also like to take this opportunity of expressing his gratitude to Dr A Naffor carefully working over the manuscripts and correcting proofs Thanks are also due to the publishers and the printers Druckerei Birkhauser especially Dr A Birkhauser Th Birkhauser and C Einsele for their painstaking work on the printing and lay out of the volume August 1976 Dr E JUCKER Sandoz AG Basel Vorwort Die Bande 18 und 19 der Fortschritte der Arzneimittel-forschung wichen insofern von den vorhergehenden Banden ab als sie fast ausschliesslich Probleme der Tropenkrankheiten behandelten Progress in Drug Research Ernst Jucker, 1968 Drug research 18, 2006 Research in Progress Strathclyde Institute for Drug Research, 1990 Progress in Drug Research 25 JUCKER, 1981-01-01 Progress in Drug Research Ernst Jucker, 1966 Progress in Drug Research Ernst Jucker, 1971
