Harris,1978 Setting and Streaming Wynne Harlen,Heather Malcolm,1997 The findings of a review of research into setting and streaming ways of grouping pupils according to ability in primary and secondary schools in Scotland are presented The review was conducted according to the best evidence synthesis model as set out by Slavin 1986 The review relied on findings of Slavin s meta analyses as well as adding studies which have been carried out since his reviews and studies that have incorporated qualitative findings The review found that in primary schools the strongest evidence for the effect of ability grouping was in mathematics Pupils of all abilities gained from within class ability grouping compared to whole class mixed ability teaching In secondary school where ability grouping is formed by setting pupils are placed in ability classes for certain subjects only or streaming pupils remain in ability based classes for all subjects the social disadvantages of these forms of organization made ability grouping hard to defend Yet mixed ability grouping had its own drawbacks Mixed ability classes are hard to manage and teach There was evidence that teachers aim lessons at the middle of the ability range sometimes treating mixed ability groups as though they were low ability streams Research showed that even teachers with substantial experience working with mixed ability classes frequently use whole class teaching methods which are inappropriate for mixed ability groups Overall what goes on in classrooms seems likely to have more impact on achievement than how students are grouped Contains 133 references WJC Architectural Record ,2001
