Property, Paternalism, and Power Howard Newby, 1978 Property, Paternalism, and Power, 1978 The Geography of Rural Change Brian W. Ilbery, 2014-09-11 The Geography of Rural Change provides a thorough examination of the processes and outcomes of rural change as a result of a period of major restructuring in developed market economies After outlining the main dimensions of rural change the book progresses from a discussion of theoretical insights into rural restructuring to a consideration of both the extensive use of rural land and the changing nature of rural economy and society The text places an emphasis on relevant principles concepts and theories of rural change and these are supported by extensive case study evidence drawn from different parts of the developed world The Geography of Rural Change is written for undergraduates taking courses in human geography agricultural geography rural geography rural sociology planning and agricultural economics The Agrarian History of England and Wales Edward John T. Collins, Joan Thirsk, 2000 The unifying theme of this volume is the changing role of the countryside in national life and the impact upon it of the social and economic forces unleashed by industrialisation and the growth of towns American Planters and Irish Landlords in Comparative and Transnational Perspective Cathal Smith, 2021-03-14 This is the first study to systematically explore similarities differences and connections between the histories of American planters and Irish landlords The book focuses primarily on the comparative and transnational investigation of an antebellum Mississippi planter named John A Quitman 1799 1858 and a nineteenth century Irish landlord named Robert Dillon Lord Clonbrock 1807 93 examining their economic behaviors ideologies labor relations and political histories Locating Quitman and Clonbrock firmly within their wider local national and international contexts American Planters and Irish Landlords in Comparative and Transnational Perspective argues that the two men were representative of specific but comparable manifestations of agrarian modernity paternalism and conservatism that became common among the landed elites who dominated economy society and politics in the antebellum American South and in nineteenth century Ireland It also demonstrates that American planters and Irish landlords were connected by myriad direct and indirect transnational links between their societies including transatlantic intellectual cultures mutual participation in global capitalism and the mass migration of people from Ireland to the United States that occurred during the nineteenth century The New Politics of Leisure and Pleasure P. Bramham, S. Wagg, 2010-11-29 This book is about the new politics of leisure and pleasure the values practices struggles and contradictions that now characterize the social worlds of rambling drinking tourism sex watching TV gambling using the internet reading comedy sport popular music and censorship Rum and Axes Janet Siskind, 2004-03 The voyage Capital kin and connections Balancing the books Continuity and change The Collins Company Breaking community building class For their own good Historische Zeitschrift, 1962 Rural Studies in Britain and France Philip Lowe, Maryvonne Bodiguel, 1990 Agrarian Reform and Resistance in an Age of Globalisation Joe Regan, Cathal Smith, 2018-12-07 This book investigates the causes and effects of modernisation in rural regions of Britain and Ireland continental Europe the Americas and Australasia between 1780 and 1914 In this period the transformation of the world economy associated with the Industrial Revolution fuelled dramatic changes in the international countryside as landowning elites agricultural workers and states adapted to the consequences of globalisation in a variety of ways The chapters in this volume illustrate similarities differences and connections between the resulting manifestations of agrarian reform and resistance that spread throughout the Euro American world and beyond during the long nineteenth century

War, Agriculture, and Food Paul Brassley, Yves Segers, Leen van Molle, 2012 Between the 1930s and the 1950s rural life in Europe underwent profound changes partly as a result of the Second World War and partly as a result of changes which had been in progress over many years This book examines a range of European countries from Scandinavia to Spain and Ireland to Hungary during this crucial period and identifies the common pressures to which they all responded and the features that were unique to individual countries In particular it examines the processes of agricultural development over western Europe as a whole the impact of the war on international trading patterns the relationships between states and farmers and the changing identities of rural populations It presents a bold attempt to write rural history on a European scale and will be of interest not only to historians and historical geographers but also to those interested in the historical background to the Common Agricultural Policy of the European Union to which the changes discussed here provided a dramatic prologue
