Papers in Game Theory J.C. Harsanyi, 2013-03-09 This volume contains twelve of my game theoretical papers published in the period of 1956-80. It complements my Essays on Ethics, Social Behavior and Scientific Explanation (Reidel, 1976) and my Rational Behavior and Bargaining Equilibrium in Games and Social Situations (Cambridge University Press, 1977). These twelve papers deal with a wide range of game theoretical problems. But there is a common intellectual thread going through all of them: they are all parts of an attempt to generalize and combine various game theoretical solution concepts into a unified solution theory yielding one-point solutions for both cooperative and noncooperative games and covering even such nonclassical games as games with incomplete information. SECTION A The first three papers deal with bargaining models. The first one discusses Nash's two-person bargaining solution and shows its equivalence with Zeuthen's bargaining theory. The second considers the rationality postulates underlying the Nash-Zeuthen theory and defends it against Schelling's objections. The third extends the Shapley value to games without transferable utility and proposes a solution concept that is at the same time a generalization of the Shapley value and of the Nash bargaining solution. Expected Utility Hypotheses and the

Allais Paradox M. Allais, G.M. Hagen, 2013-03-14 Utility theory or value theory in general is certainly the cornerstone of decision theory, game theory, microeconomics, and all social and political theories which deal with public decisions. Recently the American School of utility, founded by von Neumann-Morgenstern, encountered a far-going criticism by the French School of utility represented by its founder Allais. The whole basis of the theory of decisions involving risk has been shaken and put into question. Consequently, basic research in the fundamentals of utility and value theory evolved into a crisis. Like any crisis in basic research, and this one was not an exception, it was very fruitful. One may simply say: Allais versus von Neumann-Morgenstern or the French School of utility versus the American School became one of the battlefields of scientific development which proved to be a most creative source of new advances and new developments in all those sciences which are based on evaluation of utilities. Foundations of Utility and Risk Theory with Applications Bernt P. Stigum, Fred

Wenstøp, 2013-03-09 In this volume we present some of the papers that were delivered at FUR 82, the First International Conference on Foundations of Utility and Risk Theory in Oslo, June 1982. The purpose of the conference was to provide a forum within which scientists could report on interesting applications of modern decision theory and exchange ideas about controversial issues in the foundations of the theory of choice under uncertainty. With that purpose in mind, we have selected a mixture of applied and theoretical papers that we hope will appeal to a wide spectrum of readers, from graduate students in social science departments and business schools to people involved in making hardheaded decisions in business and government. In an introductory article Ole Hagen gives an overview of various paradoxes in utility and risk theory and discusses these in the light of scientific methodology. He concludes the article by calling for joint efforts to provide decision makers with workable theories. Kenneth Arrow takes up the same issue on a broad basis in his paper where he discusses the implications of behavior under uncertainty for policy In the theoretical papers the reader will find attempts at definitive Statements of the meaning of old concepts and suggestions for the adoption of new concepts For instance Maurice Allais discusses four different interpretations of the axioms of probability and explains the need for an empirical characterization of the concept of chance Operations Research in Progress Gustav Feichtinger, P. Kall, 2012-12-06 Proceedings of the Joint Meeting of the Austrian and Swiss Operations Research Societies Vienna September 22-24 1980 Recent Developments in the Foundations of Utility and Risk Theory L. Daboni, Aldo M. Montesano, M. Lines, 2012-12-06 The Second International Conference on Foundations of Utility and Risk Theory was held in Venice June 1984 This volume presents some of the papers delivered at FUR 84 The First International Conference FUR 82 was held in Oslo and some of the papers presented on that occasion were published by Reidel in the volume Foundations of Utility and Risk Theory with Applications edited by Bernt P Stigum and Fred Westphal The theory of choice under uncertainty involves a vast range of controversial issues in many fields like economics philosophy psychology mathematics and statistics The idea of discussing these problems in international conferences has been successful two conferences have been held and others will follow The climate of the debate has changed in the meantime partly as a result of these conferences It is no more only a question of attacking or defending the neo Bernoullian assumptions but also of proposing wider generalizations and including new elements in the analysis of the decision process For instance Amartya Sen comparing the two current notions of rationality internal consistency and self interest pursuit introduces the concept of reasoning and considers the irrationality which may result from the failure of a positive correspondence between reasoning and choice or from a limited capacity of reasoning Rationality is also considered with respect to the controversial axiom of strong independence John C Harsanyi introduces the concept of practical certainty i e Handbook of Industrial and Organizational Psychology Marvin D. Dunnette, Harry Charalambos Triandis, 1990 The foremost resource in its field these four volumes contain state of the art thinking on the most significant issues in industrial and organizational psychology by leading scholars and practitioners Volume 1 forms the groundwork for the Handbook covering fundamental areas at both the individual and organizational level Section one examines the major theoretical contributions to the field and the role of theory itself while section two explores research methods and measurement strategies Social System Accounts K. Fox, 2012-12-06 This book results from a research program on which I have spent most of my time since 1974 It addresses two of the major problems facing social system accounting how to measure and account for nonmarket activities and how to combine social and economic indicators The solution I propose is accounts based on behavior settings a concept originated by Roger G Barker more than thirty years ago Behavior settings are the natural units of social activity into which people sort themselves to get on with the business of daily life grocery stores school classes religious services meetings athletic events and so on The descriptive power of behavior settings has been established in surveys of complete communities in the United States and England of high schools ranging in size from fewer than 100 to more than 2000 students of rehabilitation centers in hospitals and of several other types of organizations Behavior settings are empirical facts of everyday life A description of a community or an organization in terms of behavior settings corresponds to common experience In many cases small establishments are behavior settings the paid roles in behavior settings are occupations and the buildings and equipment of establishments are the buildings and equipment of behavior settings Response Models for Detection of Change Anatol Rapoport, W. Burkheimer, 2013-10-03 This book reports our research on detection of change processes that underlie psychophysical learning medical diagnosis military and production control situations and share three major features First the states of the process are not directly observable but become gradually known with the sequential acquisition of fallible information over time Second the mechanism that generates the fallible information is not stationary rather it is subjected to a sudden and irrevocable change Thirdly in complete probabilistic information about the time of change is available when the process commences The purpose of the book is to characterize this class of detection of change processes to derive the optimal policy that minimizes total expected loss and most importantly to develop testable response models based on simple decision rules for describing detection of change behavior The book is theoretical in the sense that it offers mathematical models of multi stage decision behavior and solutions to optimization problems However it is not anti empirical as it aims to stimulate new experimental research and to generate applications Throughout the book questions of experimental verification are briefly considered and existing data from two studies are brought to bear on the validity of the models The work is not complete it only provides a starting point for investigating how people detect a change in an uncertain environment balancing between the cost of delay in detecting the change and the cost of making an incorrect terminal decision Property and Power

Lesz Nowak, 2012-12-06 THE VOICE OF THE PEOPLE THE POLISH ROAD FROM SOCIALISM ON 1 The history of all hitherto existing societies is a history of class struggle not only that between the exploited and the exploiters but also that between the ruled and the rulers And in modern times there is in some societies a struggle between those who are exploited and oppressed at the same time and those who at the same time exploit and oppress 2 The struggle between the owners and the direct producers results from the fact that the former exploit the latter that is they take from their labour more than they give back It is possible since only they the exploiters have a monopoly of the disposal over the means of production and the major part of society must provide them with their labour force Increasing exploitation finally leads to the revolution of the masses and the owners are forced to make concessions in order to avoid re occurrences Subject Catalog Library of
