Process Praxis And Transcendence:

Process, Praxis, and Transcendence James L. Marsh, 1999-01-28 Process Praxis and Transcendence is a North American philosophy of liberation that defends both metaphysics and philosophy of religion The book moves from an existential phenomenology of the knowing and choosing subject through affirmation of a processive and liberating Christ to a critique and overcoming of neo imperialism Its ultimate theme explores what the appropriate theory and praxis of liberation is for those of us living in the center of the empire in North America and Western Europe

New Critical Theory William S. Wilkerson, Jeffrey Paris, 2001-11-19 New Critical Theory surveys contemporary leftist thought while introducing the tenets of this new form of critical theory Beginning with an exploration of the relationship between Marxism Habermas and the politics of identity William S Wilkerson and Jeffrey R Paris present a collection that critiques the globalization of capital The development of personality appears as subject to socialized standards in an age of global capitalism Only after scrutinizing the effects of such a system can liberation be found The essays within join Critical Theory with postmodern insights on language and subjectivity to provide a more comprehensive view of emancipatory social theory Through this and other reflections on critical race gender and queer theories Wilkerson and Paris emerge with an encompassing volume defining New Critical Theory

Transcendent Experience, Process, and Praxis Within the 'Transcendence Movement' Keith Beasley, 2013

Method, 2002

Communities of Individuals Michael J. R. Cross, 2017-10-05 This title was first published in 2001 This book examines the liberal communitarian debate from a new perspective Communitarians argue that liberal theory neglects the significance of communities for the lives of their members An examination of that argument reveals that there are deficiencies in the communitarian account of community Identifying and remedying those deficiencies is the key concern of this book Uniquely this book addresses the deficiencies using Sartre's anarchist theory derived largely but not exclusively from an interpretation of the Critique of Dialectical Reason Sartre champions the individual yet criticises liberalism The tension arising from these two apparently disparate positions makes for a fruitful argument enhanced by the connections made with Aristotelian and feminist theory Hobbes and Rousseau Finally a method is developed for inquiring into the nature of associations which it is argued should interest communitarians concerned to avoid deficiencies in their account of community

Liberation, Method and Dialogue Roberto S. Goizueta, 2018-06-27 This book analyzes the theological method of liberation theologian Enrique Dussel and by comparing it with the meta method of Bernard Lonergan establishes a paradigm for international theological dialogue The author suggests that Dussel's non reductionist understanding of liberation and Lonergan's understanding of the subject as subject provide a methodological foundation for critical dialogue between Latin American and North American theologians The methodological maturation of liberation theology rehearsed in this study suggests how the insights of Latin American theology demand the development of an indigenous form of North American theology of liberation interpretation and critique of Habermas's philosophy as contained in his book Between Facts and Norms. The main argument is that while Habermas does succeed in laying out foundations conceptual and methodological for the philosophy of law the book is flawed by a fundamental contradiction between a democracy ruled by law and capitalism. Critique of Dialectical Reason: The intelligibility of history Jean-Paul Sartre, 1976 The Language of Dialectics and the Dialectics of Language Joachim Israel, 1979 This book does not only attempt to clarify concepts used in the context of dialectical reasoning but also develops an epistemological theory by answering the question What does it mean to possess a language. The epistemological theory then is used to ground the basis of social science in the logic of our common sense language. This logic is viewed as more comprehensive than traditional formalized logic which is viewed as only one though an important aspect of the more general and basic logic of our common sense language.

Jesuit Education 21 Martin R. Tripole, 2000 Communities of Individuals Mike Cross, 2001 This book examines the liberal communitarian debate from a new perspective. Communitarians argue that liberal theory neglects the significance of communities for the lives of their members. An examination of that argument reveals that there are deficiencies in the communitarian account of community. Identifying and remedying those deficiencies is the key concern of this book uniquely addressing the deficiencies using Sartre's anarchist theory derived from an interpretation of the Critique of Dialectical Reason. Sartre champions the individual yet criticises liberalism. The tension arising from these two apparently disparate positions makes for a fruitful argument enhanced by the connections made with Aristotelian and feminist theory. Hobbes and Rousseau. Finally a method is developed for inquiring into the nature of associations which it is argued should interest communitarians concerned to avoid deficiencies in their account of community.

Forthcoming Books Rose Arny, 1999 International Philosophical Quarterly, 1983 American Catholic Philosophical Quarterly, 1999 Sartre's Marxism Mark Poster, 1979 Sartre's Marxism analyses Sartre's Critique of Dialectical Reason and its contribution to marxist theory. Mark Poster places the Critique within the social and political context of post war France and gives a lucid and accessible account of its key arguments and concepts. He argues against those who dismiss the Critique too lightly especially those who view it through the lens of Sartre's earlier existentialism. He concludes that traditional notions of historical materialism need to be revisited in the light of Sartre's contribution which provides categories to restore the subjective side to the story in which people make history.

Thinking from the Underside of History Linda Martín Alcoff, Eduardo Mendieta, 2000-07-12 Enrique Dussel's writings span the theology of liberation critiques of discourse ethics and evaluations of Marx, Levinas, Habermas and others. This anthology of articles by US philosophers elucidating Dussel's thought offers critical analyses from a variety of perspectives.

Ethical Marxism Bill Martin, 2008 Argues for a revised Marxism that takes ethics rather than political economy and scientific investigation as its core. Provided by publisher.
