Conradie, 2005-05-18 Hope for the Earth explores the viability of an eschatological approach to an ecological theology, spirituality, and praxis in the South African context. The basic intuition of such an eschatological approach is that an environmental praxis can only be empowered on the basis of an adequate understanding of Christian hope. Despair in the face of environmental destruction will inevitably lead to a spirit of resignation. Where then can a vision of hope that includes hope for the earth be found? The author proposes a road map for eschatology based on the observation that eschatology has traditionally responded to three aspects of the human predicament: namely, 1) the evil effects of sin, 2) the problem of finitude and transience, and 3) the limitations of human power and knowledge in space. Part A: This analysis is used to fathom the depths of despair as a result of environmental destruction. Part B: The Biblical roots and subsequent history of Christian eschatology are discussed briefly. Part C: Recent contributions in Christian eschatology, ecological theology, cosmology, and South African expressions of hope are explored in depth in search of a vision of hope that includes hope for the earth itself. Part D: The eschatological road map is used to develop a vision of hope for the earth on the basis of a theology of life, life amidst death and destruction, life beyond death, and eternal life in the presence of God. Part E: Finally, the implications of this vision for an ecological ethos, spirituality, and praxis in the South African context are indicated. Part F. Writing Back Susan Winnett, 2012-09-18 The migration of American artists and intellectuals to Europe in the early twentieth century has been amply documented and studied, but few scholars have examined the aftermath of their return home. Writing Back focuses on the memoirs of modernist writers and intellectuals who struggled with their return to America after years of living abroad Susan Winnett establishes repatriation as related to but significantly different from travel and exile She engages in close readings of several writers in exile including Henry James Harold Stearns Malcolm Cowley and Gertrude Stein Writing Back examines how repatriation unsettles the self construction of the returning absentee by challenging the fictions of national and cultural identity with which the writer has experimented during the time abroad As both Americans and expatriates these writers gained a unique perspective on American culture particularly in terms of gender roles national identity artistic self conception mobility and global culture Joseph A Boone University of Southern California Thirteen Years' Experience in the Itinerancy Andrew Manship,1876 The Golden Rule ,1895 Dangerous Journey Home Michael Hunter,2020-08-10 This is the story of the illegitimate son of a young immigrant woman who was on the run from her abusive husband It s the story of a child whose father died when the boy was only four It s about growing up with PTSD and alcoholism and abuse and family dysfunction It s about a man who thought he knew what God and Christianity is all about and yet he fell so far into sin that it destroyed everything in his life and he ended up in prison It s also the story of how this same man finally realized one day that God exists and He truly loves us It s a story of a prodigal son hearing his true Father calling him to come back It s the story about one man s journey home to Father God It s a true story I know because I am that man Premiums paid to experience, by Edward Garrett Isabella Fyvie Mayo,1894 The Sabbath school magazine, ed. by W.
