Grinnell,Yvonne A. Unrau,2005 This book is the longest standing and most widely adopted text in the field of social work research and evaluation Since the first edition in 1981 it has been designed to provide beginning social work students the basic methodological foundation they need in order to successfully complete more advanced research courses that focus on single system designs or program evaluations Its content is explained in extraordinarily clear everyday language which is then illustrated with social work examples that social work students not only can understand but appreciate as well Many of the examples concern women and minorities and special emphasis is given to the application of research methods to the study of these groups Without a doubt the major strength of this book is that it is written by social workers for social work students The editors have once again secured an excellent and diverse group of social work research educators The 31 contributors know firsthand from their own extensive teaching and practice experiences what social work students need to know in relation to research They have subjected themselves to a discipline totally uncommon in compendia that is writing in terms of what is most needed for an integrated basic research methods book rather than writing in line with their own predilections Masculinities and Schooling Blye Frank,Kevin G. Family Violence Robert L. Hampton, 1993

What factors contribute to family violence and how can they be identified early so that future violence can be prevented? Addressing these and related issues the papers in this volume are a testimony to the rapid expansion of research theory and practice in the family violence field. Leading researchers and clinicians explore the roots of family violence including both physical and sexual abuse and examine assessment treatment and prevention. Topics addressed include whether children or the elderly are at greater risk and the role of substance abuse in family violence.
