the International Phonetic Alphabet Excerpt The International Phonetic Alphabet IPA is an alphabetic system of phonetic notation based primarily on the Latin alphabet It was devised by the International Phonetic Association as a standardized representation of the sounds of oral language The IPA is used by lexicographers foreign language students and teachers linguists Speech Language Pathologists singers actors constructed language creators and translators The IPA is designed to represent only those qualities of speech that are distinctive in oral language phonemes intonation and the separation of words and syllables To represent additional qualities of speech such as tooth gnashing lisping and sounds made with a cleft palate an extended set of symbols called the Extensions to the IPA may be used IPA symbols are composed of one or more elements of two basic types letters and diacritics For example the sound of the English letter t may be transcribed in IPA with a single letter or with a letter plus diacritics depending on how precise one wishes to be Often slashes are used to signal broad or phonemic transcription thus is less specific than and could refer to either or depending on the context and language
