Problem-based Immunology:

Problem-Based Immunology E-Book Reginald M. Gorczynski, Jacqueline Stanley, 2006-03-23 It's one thing to understand the basic science of immunology. It's another thing to know how that science applies to the realities of patient care. This new resource uses skillfully presented clinical case studies to efficiently demonstrate the practical relevance of immunology knowledge in diagnosing a wide range of challenging conditions. It offers as an ideal way to review the fundamental principles of immunology and see them translated into real world diagnosis and management. Covers each major area of the field: immunization, hypersensitivity, autoimmunity, immunodeficiency disorders, tumor immunology, and transplantation. Provides a concise overview of the basic concepts in each area followed by 6-10 succinct and well-organized case studies that illustrate the associated clinical applications. Begins each case study with an initial case presentation complete with full-color clinical photographs allowing you to put your diagnostic reasoning skills to the test, followed by a list of the key clinical features involved in the case, a one-paragraph discussion of each differential diagnostic possibility, and a summary of the correct diagnosis and treatment approach. Problem-based Immunology Reginald M.

Gorczynski, Jacqueline Stanley, 2006 Using a problem-based approach Gorczynski surgery and immunology U of Toronto Canada and Stanley cell and molecular biology St George's U School of Medicine Grenada West Indies provide a textbook that emphasizes clinical case studies. Topics covered are immunodeficiency, hypersensitivity, autoimmunity, tumor immunology, transplantation, immunization, and psychoneuroimmunology. Each section includes clinical features, diagnosis, and treatment, and several case studies. The book is intended for first and second year medical students and those in third and fourth year clerkships. Annotation 2006 Book News Inc Portland OR booknews.com The Present and Future of Immunology Education Andrea Bottaro, Deborah M. Brown, John Gregory Frelinger, 2022-01-24 The explosion of basic and applied immunology in the first decades of the 21st century has brought forth new opportunities and challenges for immunology education at all academic levels from professional to undergraduate, medical graduate, and post graduate instruction. Moreover, developing methods and techniques for educating general audiences on the importance and benefits of immunology will be critical for increasing public awareness and support. One major immediate challenge consists in accommodating within the confines of traditional immunology curricula a body of knowledge that continues to grow exponentially in both size and complexity. Furthermore, the practical toolbox of immunological research has vastly expanded, and even in the present environment of highly interdisciplinary and collaborative science, future immunologists will likely need to be at least conversant in, for instance, computational, structural, and system biology, nanotechnology, and tissue engineering. At the same time, our perspective of the immune system has progressively developed from primarily a host defense mechanism to a fundamental homeostatic system with organism-wide physiological and clinical significance and with potentially transformative biotechnological and therapeutic applications. As a consequence, in addition to stand-alone courses, immunology is increasingly integrated into other courses or distributed longitudinally throughout a multi year curriculum This necessitates inter disciplinary approaches to reach an expanding range of disciplines as diverse as neurobiology cancer biology oncology infectious diseases pharmacology orthopedics and bioengineering Creative approaches and pedagogical flexibility will be needed to avoid the pitfall of one size fits all instruction and to tailor level and discipline appropriate content to different types of students using multiple teaching formats Finally like most other disciplines immunology education is also under strong pressure to introduce new didactic strategies that are relevant and meaningful to a generation of students who are digital natives comfortable with and expect on demand and multi modal learning diversified sources and active engagement Thankfully the dynamic and interactive behavior of immune system cells now visualized with striking immediacy by in vivo imaging has the ability to capture and hold the interest of even the most jaded learner The need for an increasingly immunology knowledgeable workforce not just academic and industry scientists but also clinical and research lab technicians biomedical engineers and physicians in a growing array of specialties will also expand job opportunities for immunologists as educators and for content creators dedicated to generating new didactic tools in this field Acknowledgement We acknowledge the initiation and support of this Research Topic by the International Union of Immunological Societies IUIS
