Juming Li

NewYork University, NewYork 10012, USA

Abstract. Teachers' continuing education is an important link in the development and training of teachers' professional talents in China. Under the background of the COVID-19 epidemic, the wave of educational informatization has provided more opportunities and challenges for teachers' continuing education. This study compares the current situation of teachers' continuing education in China and proposes targeted countermeasures for problems in three areas: training design, training content and form, and training management and evaluation.

Keywords: Education informatization; Continuing education; Teacher training.

1. Introduction

In the new era, education informatization has brought a broader development path for teachers' continuing education and training. With the continuous development of emerging technologies such as artificial intelligence, blockchain and "Internet+", more and more information technology is used in teaching, which provides more opportunities and challenges for teachers' continuing education and training. In the era of education informatization 2.0 [1], teachers' continuing education and training have become more focused on the "innovative integration" of information technology and education, and on the ways and means to effectively improve teachers' teaching and learning with the support of information technology.

During the period of COVID-19, the country adopted the long-term and large-scale online teaching method of "stopping classes without stopping teaching", which reflected the important value of education informatization, but also made teachers' continuing education faces new problems. The action plan for education informatization 2.0 emphasizes on vigorously improving teachers' information literacy and promoting teachers' self adaptation to technological changes [2]. Therefore, how to further improve the continuing education level of teachers under the background of educational informatization has become a hot issue that needs to be studied.

2. Current situation of teachers' continuing education development under the background of educational informatization

Training is an important way for teachers to improve their professional level and enhance their teaching skills. In this study, the concept of teachers' continuing education specifically refers to in-service school teacher training, that is, training for post-service continuing teacher education [3]. Teachers' continuing education is an educational investment activity that improves teachers' teaching and research, professional satisfaction and academic career development through the systematic design, organization, and implementation of training programs. Teacher continuing training is an important way to promote teachers' professional development and literacy, and is the embodiment of lifelong learning for teachers. Obtaining higher professional skills, professional identity and professional development through post-service training is an important purpose of teacher continuing training [4].

At present, China has formed a five-tier training system of "national training, provincial training, municipal training, county training and school-based training", which basically covers all forms of training for primary and secondary school teachers [5]. In 2010, China began to implement the National Training Program for Primary and Secondary School Teachers (the "National Training

Challenges for Educational Research Jean Rudduck, Donald McIntyre, 1998 Challenges in Educational Research considers the quality and usefulness of educational research using 2 reports that have recently been published as a starting point Well known academics expand the arguments beyond the reports themselves Problems Of Educational Research Ravi Prakash, 2003-01-01 Educational Research: the Educationalization of Social Problems Paul Smeyers, 2009-04-14 Pushing social responsibilities on schools is a process that has been underway for a long time This phenomenon has been studied more in Europe than in North America and the U K and has been labelled P dagogisierung The editors have chosen to use Educationalization to identify the overall orientation or trend toward thinking about education as the focal point for addressing or solving larger human problems The term describes these phenomena as a sub process of the modernization of society but it also has negative connotations such as increased dependence patronization and pampering In this book distinguished philosophers and historians of education focus on educationalization to expand its meaning through an engagement with educational theory Topics discussed are the family and the child the learning society citizenship education widening participation in higher education progressive education and schooling movements such as No Child Left Behind Smeyers and Depaepe s book offers great insights into one of the most ambivalent phenomena of today s educational world and especially educational policy The contributions assembled represent perspectives of some of the most respected scholars in the field Their manifold critiques of the educationalization of social problems are rather convincing Our time is definitely ripe for such analysis Roland Reichenbach Center for Educational Studies University of Basel Switzerland This is a challenging critical and analytical treatment of the tendency of contemporary administrations to overburden educational institutions with the expectation that they will provide the solutions to an increasingly diverse range of social and economic problems It brings together the theoretical resources of a distinguished international group of philosophers and historians of education and deserves the careful attention of educational policy makers practitioners and researchers alike David Bridges Von H gel Institute St Edmund s College Cambridge England This publication is realized by the Research Community FWO Vlaanderen Research Foundation Flanders Belgium Philosophy and History of the Discipline of Education Evaluation and Evolution of the Criteria for Educational Research Also realized by the Research Community are Educational Research Why What Works Doesn t Work 2006 and Educational Research Networks and Technologies 2007 Issues and Challenges in Science Education Research Kim Chwee Daniel Tan, Mijung Kim, 2012-04-27 In contemporary society science constitutes a significant part of human life in that it impacts on how people experience and understand the world and themselves The rapid advances in science and technology newly established societal and cultural norms and values and changes in the climate and environment as well as the depletion of natural resources all greatly impact the lives of children and youths and hence their ways of learning viewing the world experiencing phenomena around them and interacting with others These changes challenge science educators to rethink the epistemology and pedagogy in science classrooms today as the practice of science education needs to be proactive and relevant to students and prepare them for life in the present and in the future. Featuring contributions from highly experienced and celebrated science educators as well as research perspectives from Europe the USA Asia and Australia this book addresses theoretical and practical examples in science education that on the one hand plays a key role in our understanding of the world and yet paradoxically now acknowledges a growing number of uncertainties of knowledge about the world. The material is in four sections that cover the learning and teaching of science from science literacy to multiple representations science teacher education the use of innovations and new technologies in science teaching and learning and science learning in informal settings including outdoor environmental learning activities. Acknowledging the issues and challenges in science education this book hopes to generate collaborative discussions among scholars researchers and educators to develop critical and creative ways of science teaching to improve and enrich the lives of our children and youths.

This text brings research alive for educators by introducing readers to people who actually do research. It is intended for instructors who emphasize teaching students how to locate read and interpret and apply the findings of educational research studies. The revision addresses how to design and conduct a research study in more detail. The text includes numerous recent published research articles involving high interest problems of educational practice. The chapters which treat quantitative qualitative and applied forms of educational research stand alone allowing instructors to choose those they want to cover Designed for courses focused primarily on applying rather than conducting research this text includes 13 actual research articles reprinted in their entirety The primary author of each article then offers original commentary on his/her piece Through this format the text presents a comprehensive explanation of the methodologies used by present day researchers data collection challenges and the meaning of the results The book makes no assumptions about readers prior knowledge of research or statistics This text builds students confidence so that they are able to successfully read research reports and research Through its clear yet scholarly treatment and numerous examples of educational research the text addresses the learning and application needs of an increasingly wider spectrum of students and practitioners in the field of education For the first time readers will see the relevance of research to educational practice
