Shadow Archives Jean-Christophe Cloutier, 2019-09-03 Recasting the history of African American literature Shadow Archives brings to life a slew of newly discovered texts including Claude McKay's Amiable with Big Teeth to tell the stories of black special collections and their struggle for institutional recognition Jean Christophe Cloutier offers revelatory readings of major African American writers including McKay Richard Wright Ann Petry and Ralph Ellison and provides a nuanced view of how archival methodology access and the power dynamics of acquisitions shape literary history Shadow Archives argues that the notion of the archive is crucial to our understanding of postwar African American literary history Cloutier combines his own experiences as a researcher and archivist with a theoretically rich account of the archive to offer a pioneering study of the importance of African American authors' archival practices and how these shaped their writing Given the lack of institutions dedicated to the black experience the novel became an alternative site of historical preservation a means to ensure both individual legacy and group survival Such archivism manifests in the work of these authors through evolving lifecycles where documents undergo repurposing revision insertion falsification transformation and fictionalization

sometimes across decades An innovative interdisciplinary consideration of literary papers Shadow Archives proposes new ways for literary scholars to engage with the archive Richard Wright Keneth Kinnamon, 2014-11-04 African American writer Richard Wright 1908-1960 was celebrated during the early 1940s for his searing autobiography Black Boy and fiction Native Son By 1947 he felt so unwelcome in his homeland that he exiled himself and his family in Paris But his writings changed American culture forever and today they are mainstays of literature and composition classes He and his works are also the subjects of numerous critical essays and commentaries by contemporary writers This volume presents a comprehensive annotated bibliography of those essays books and articles from 1983 through 2003 Arranged alphabetically by author within years are some 8320 entries ranging from unpublished dissertations to book length studies of African American literature and literary criticism Also included as an appendix are addenda to the author's earlier bibliography covering the years from 1934 through 1982 This is the exhaustive reference for serious students of Richard Wright and his critics Conversations with Ralph Ellison Ralph Ellison, 1995 Interviews with the author of Invisible Man and many other works Afro-American Writers, 1940-1955 Trudier Harris, 1988 Essays on black American writers both major and minor are presented including poets dramatists and playwrights Many of these prominent black writers whose works are taught and written about today came to the forefront of the American literary scene during this period The essays in this volume try to capture the nuances of the lives and literature of that period American Novelists Since World War II Jeffrey Helterman, Richard Layman, 1978 Contains alphabetically arranged entries that provide career biographies of eighty American authors who either began writing novels after 1945 or have done their most important work since then each with a list of principal works and a bibliography Ralph Ellison Arnold Rampersad, 2007-04-24 Ralph Ellison is justly celebrated for his epochal novel Invisible Man which won the National Book Award in 1953 and has become a classic of American literature But Ellison's strange inability to finish a second novel despite his dogged efforts and soaring prestige made him a supremely enigmatic figure Arnold Rampersad skillfully tells the story of a writer whose thunderous novel and astute courageous essays on race literature and culture assure him of a permanent place in our literary heritage Starting with Ellison's hardscrabble childhood in Oklahoma and his ordeal as a student in Alabama Rampersad documents his improbable painstaking rise in New York to a commanding place on the literary scene With scorching honesty but also fair and compassionate Rampersad lays bare his subject's troubled psychology and its impact on his art and on the people about him This book is both the definitive biography of Ellison and a stellar model of literary biography The Kaiser Index to Black Resources, 1948-1986: D-H, 1992 Interviews and Conversations with 20th-century Authors Writing in English Stan A.
