Shades of Grey - Domestic and Sexual Violence Against Women Anna Carline, Patricia Easteal, 2014-09-19 Arguing that law must be looked at holistically this book investigates the hidden gender of the so called neutral or objective legal principles that structure the law addressing violence against women Adopting an explicitly feminist perspective it investigates how legal responses to violence against women presuppose maintain and perpetuate a certain context that may not in fact reflect women's experiences Carline and Easteal draw upon relevant legislation case law and secondary studies from a range of territories including Australia England and Wales the United States Canada and Europe to contextualize and critique different policy responses They go on to examine the potential and limits of law making recommendations for best practice models of policymaking and law reform Aiming to help improve government community and legal responses to women who experience violence Shades of Grey Domestic and Sexual Violence Against Women Law Reform and Society will assist law makers academics policymakers and a wider audience in understanding the complexities of violence against women

Criminal Justice in Ireland Paul O'Mahony, 2002 Comprehensive overview of the Irish criminal justice system its current problems and its vision for the future Collection of essays by major office holders experienced practitioners leading academics legal scholars sociologists psychologists philosophers and educationalists Women's Movement and the Legal Process Lotika Sarkar, 1995 With special reference to India Smith and Hogan's Criminal Law David Ormerod, Karl Laird, John Cyril Smith, Brian Hogan, 2015 Criminal Law is written with the needs of the student foremost in mind to provide more than ever as modern and as comprehensive an exposition of the criminal law as he or she could possibly require Lacey, Wells and Quick Reconstructing Criminal Law Celia Wells, Oliver Quick, 2010-05-27 This truly groundbreaking textbook explores traditional and broader fields of criminal law and justice to give a full perspective on the subject §§ 174-210 Eric Hilgendorf, Tatjana Hörnle, Nina Nestler, et al., 2022-12-31 Der Leipziger Kommentar setzt auch in der 13. Auflage die Maßstäbe für die Wissenschaft zum materiellen Strafrecht. In 20 Bänden beleuchtet das hochkarätige Autorenteam das Strafgesetzbuch sowie das Völkerstrafgesetzbuch in allen Facetten und mit bemerkenswerter Tiefe. Dabei bleibt keine Frage unbeantwortet. Von der Entstehungsgeschichte über Reformfragen bis hin zu rechtsvergleichenden Darstellungen sowie unter Einschluss verwandter Rechtsgebiete wie der Kriminologie und des Völkerstrafrechts findet der Benutzer eine erschöpfende Darstellung und wissenschaftliche Aufbereitung der gesamten Materie. Der Großen Kommentar gibt den gegenwärtigen Erkenntnisstand in Rechtsprechung und Literatur vollständig wieder und bietet Hilfe zur Lösung auch entlegener Probleme. In Band 10 sind die Vorschriften des Besonderen Teils des StGB zu den Straftaten gegen die sexuelle Selbstbestimmung 174-184j zur Beleidigung 185-200 und zur Verletzung des persönlichen Lebens und Geheimbereichs 201-207 kommentiert Taking the Stand Amanda Konradi, 2007-10-30 Rape is one of the most underreported crimes in the U.S. and yet it is one of the most vicious, devastating and violent of all crimes. But getting justice for victims has not always been easy. Often the victim is criminalized, demonized, sexualized or otherwise attacked for her own part in the rape. But over the years laws have changed and prosecuting rapists has become more common. Taking the Stand describes the criminal prosecution of rapists from the perspective of the women who survived their violence and explores if, when and how the criminal justice process can work for them. Walking through the various responses rape victims have had to the criminal justice process, Konradi's vivid analysis provides new information to help raped women decide whether and how they should participate in prosecution to help friends and family assist them and to improve criminal justice practice for crime victims generally. Taking the Stand follows 47 rape survivors of varied ages and ethnicities from the terror and trauma of rape through reporting to law enforcement, police investigation and indictment hearings for probable cause and trials, plea bargaining and sentencing. It focuses on women's experiences throughout the process and demonstrates how every experience is different. The problems that rape survivors face in the criminal justice process are not simply the result of the adversarial nature of court defense tactics or their own emotional reactions to violent sexual domination. Problems emerge from 1. the social networks in which survivors are situated, 2. their variable access to emotional and financial resources, 3. their lack of knowledge about the formal and informal practices of courtrooms, 4. their lack of structural power in the criminal justice process, and 5. standard procedures employed by prosecutors and police. By recognizing individual differences in rape survivors and their rape experiences, criminal justice personnel can better serve victims, and by understanding the layers of criminal investigation and prosecution, survivors and their families can play a more active role on their own terms in an effort to bring about justice. A rape survivor herself, Konradi exposes in the raw language of the victims the very sensitive nature of the topic and the personal obstacles survivors face By addressing each stage of the criminal justice process she makes it easier for those who seek justice to make decisions and choose behaviors that will positively affect their outcomes and their personal experiences with the system

Governance Feminism Janet Halley, Prabha Kotiswaran, Rachel Rebouché, Hila Shamir, 2019-03-26 An interdisciplinary multifaceted look at feminist engagements with governance across the global North and global South Governance Feminism Notes from the Field brings together nineteen chapters from leading feminist scholars and activists to critically describe and assess contemporary feminist engagements with state and state like power Gathering examples from North America South America Europe Asia and the Middle East it complements and expands on the companion volume Governance Feminism An Introduction Its chapters argue that governance feminism GF is institutionally diverse and globally distributed emerging from traditional sites of state power as well as from various forms of governance and operating at the grassroots level in the private sector in civil society and in international relations The book begins by confronting the key role that crime and punishment play in GFeminist projects Here contributors explore the ideological and political conditions under which this branch of GF became so robust and rethink the carceral turn Other chapters speak to another face of GFeminism feminists finding in mundane and seemingly unspectacular bureaucratic tools leverage to bring about change in policy and governance practices Several contributions highlight the political strategic and ethical challenges that feminists and LGBT activists must negotiate to play on the governmental field The book concludes with a focus on feminist interventions in postcolonial legal and political orders looking at new policy spaces opened up by conflict postconflict and occupation Providing a clear cross cutting critical lens through which to map developments in feminist governance around the world Governance Feminism Notes from the Field makes sense of the costs and benefits of current feminist realities to reimagine feminist futures Contributors Libby Adler Northeastern U Aziza Ahmed Northeastern U Elizabeth Bernstein Barnard College Amy J Cohen Ohio State U Karen Engle U of Texas at Austin Jacob Gersen Harvard U Leigh Goodmark U of Maryland Aeyal Gross Tel Aviv U Aya Gruber U of Colorado Boulder Janet Halley Harvard U Rema Hammami Birzeit U Palestine Vanja Hamzi U of London Isabel Cristina Jaramillo Sierra Prabha Kotiswaran King s College London Maleiha Malik King s College London Vasuki Nesiah New York U Dianne Otto Melbourne Law School Helen Reece Darren Rosenblum Pace U Jeannie Suk Gersen Harvard U Mariana Valverde U of Toronto

Legislative Law and Process Otto J. Hetzel, Michael E. Libonati, 1993 This Second Edition blends recent developments with the basic foundational materials the authors view as crucial to an understanding of the legislative process the interpretation of statutes The book retains the basic structure of the first edition but has been reorganized expanded to take account of the developments of the 1980 s as well as to provide more focus on issues common to state statutes This coursebook contains several approaches that have been found useful in conveying the legislature s role in shaping the law The use of political science materials also of case studies is not necessarily novel Those trained in law have learned to use appellate cases effectively for teaching certain kinds of legal analysis Unfortunately vehicles of equivalent utility have not yet been fully developed to teach the legislative process This book contains some materials that are in an evolutionary stage of development these materials are intended as a contribution towards efforts to develop such instruments

Radical Critiques of the Law Stephen M. Griffin, Robert C. L. Moffat, 1997 The past two decades have seen an outpouring of work in legal theory that is self consciously critical of aspects of American law and the institutions of the liberal state In this lively volume eminent scholars in philosophy law and political science respond to this recent scholarship by exploring what constitutes a radical critique of the law examining such theories as critical legal studies feminist theory and theories of difference and critical race theory The authors consider whether the critiques advanced in recent legal theory can truly be called radical and what form a radical critique of American law should take Writing at the cutting edge of the critique of critical legal theory they offer insights first on critical legal scholarship then on feminist political and legal theory A third group of contributions questions the radicalness of these approaches in light of their failure to challenge fundamental aspects of liberalism while a final section focuses on current issues of legal reform through critical views on criminal punishment including observations on rape and hate speech Each major essay describes the underlying principles in the development of a radical legal theory and addresses unresolved questions relating to it while accompanying commentaries present conflicting views The resulting dialogue explores wide ranging issues like equity value relativism adversarial and empathic legal advocacy communitarianism and the social contract impartiality and contingency natural law and corrective justice A common thread for many of the articles is a focus on the social dimension of society and law which finds the individualism of prevailing liberal theories too limiting Radical Critiques of the Law is particularly unique in presenting critical and feminist approaches in one volume along with skeptical commentary about just how radical some critiques really are Proposing alternative critiques that embody considerably greater promise of being truly radical it offers provocative reading for both philosophers and legal scholars by showing that many claims to radicalism are highly problematic at best
