Rape Weapon Of Terror:

Rape Sharon Frederick, 2001 This book is a well researched and moving account of how sexual assault on women has become a potent weapon in virtually all armed conflicts Chapters giving historical and geographic perspectives describe how rape has been used throughout the ages and around the world Case histories reveal the individual tragedies within the broad picture Female Soldiers in Sierra Leone Megan H. MacKenzie, 2015-11 The eleven year civil war in Sierra Leone from 1991 to 2002 was incomprehensibly brutal it is estimated that half of all female refugees were raped and many thousands were killed While the publicity surrounding sexual violence helped to create a general picture of women and girls as victims of the conflict there has been little effort to understand female soldiers involvement in and experience of the conflict Female Soldiers in Sierra Leone draws on interviews with 75 former female soldiers and over 20 local experts providing a rare perspective on both the civil war and post conflict development efforts in the country Megan MacKenzie argues that post conflict reconstruction is a highly gendered process demonstrating that a clear recognition and understanding of the roles and experiences of female soldiers are central to both understanding the conflict and to crafting effective policy for the future

Wartime Rape. Sexual Terrorism in the Eastern Provinces of the Democratic Republic of Congo Stefan Kirchner, 2008-11-17 Document from the year 2008 in the subject Law European and International Law Intellectual Properties Universit Paris Sorbonne Paris IV language English abstract About 5 4 million people have been killed in the wars in the Democratic Republic of Congo D R C the former Zaire 45 000 die every month and hundreds of thousands of women have been raped here in recent years Wartime rapes are anything but new and have been employed not only to terrorize the population but also as weapon of genocide in Rwanda Bosnia and Darfur The Eastern Congolese provinces of North and South Kivu have been affected by particular gruesome acts of violence and thousands of victims suffer from rape induced fistulae ruptures of the walls which separate the victim s vagina from her rectum According to UN staff and doctors in the region all armed groups in the region are involved in rapes and despite the 2002 Pretoria Accord which put an official end to the war attacks and rapes continue to this very day Many survivors are forced out of their homes and their families abandoned and left to fend for themselves Therefore apart from medical treatment and psychological counseling there is a strong demand for justice But due to the weak position of women in Congolese society justice is much harder to get by than medical treatment Although the Congolese Penal Code and Military Penal Code penalize these crimes the reaction by the Congolese government to the atrocities remains insufficient making a solution based on Congolese criminal law unlikely The practical application of the D R C s domestic laws is found wanting and the law does not have the deterrent effect which is required to prevent future atrocities also due to the traditional position of women in Congolese society continues to be reflected in the law According to Art 448 of the D R C s family code a married woman has to obtain her husband s permission to bring a case to court which provides a major obstacle on the road to justice This book deals with the multidimensional aspects of the problem which range from medicine and psychology to social issues and the quest for justice In the latter part we will examine not only the background by looking at relevant rules of International Human Rights Law and International Humanitarian Law but also look at legal responses to these crimes both on a national level in the D R C as well as on an international level and with the question of how justice can be achieved for rape victims in a country ravaged by war in which women continue to be second class citizens

Symbolism in Terrorism Jonathan Matusitz, 2014-09-16 The symbolic value of targets is what differentiates terrorism from other forms of extreme violence Terrorism is designed to inflict deep psychological wounds on an enemy rather than demolish its material ability to fight The September 11 2001 attacks for example demonstrated the power of symbolism The World Trade Center was targeted by Al Qaeda because the Twin Towers epitomized Western civilization U S imperialism financial success modernity and freedom The symbolic character of terrorism is the focus of this textbook A comprehensive analysis it incorporates descriptions definitions case studies and theories Each chapter focuses on a specific dimension of symbolism in terrorism and explains the contexts and processes that involve the main actors as well as the symbolism of both the purposes and targets of terrorism Also discussed are new religious movements which represent another important aspect of terrorism such as Aum Shinrikyo the Japanese cult that used sarin gas in the Tokyo subway in 1995 Over forty areas of symbolism are covered throughout the chapters including physical and non physical symbolism linguistic symbolism the social construction of reality rituals myths performative violence iconoclasm brand management logos semiotics new media and the global village This allows for an in depth examination of many issues such as anti globalization honor killing religious terrorism suicide terrorism martyrdom weapons female terrorism public communication visual motifs and cyberspace Main concepts are clearly defined and followed by theory illustrated by international case studies Chapter summaries key points review questions research and practice suggestions are recurring components as well This groundbreaking text encompasses all major aspects of symbolism in terrorism and will be an essential resource for anyone studying terrorism
