Rapid Force Projection Exploring New Technology Concepts For Light Airborne Forces:

Rapid Force Projection Randall Steeb,1996 Using computer simulations RAND analysts examined compared and contrasted new technologies and systems that would allow light forces to better withstand and overcome attacks from larger more heavily armed forces in varying terrain Rapid Force Projection: Exploring New Technology Concepts for Light Airborne Forces. Documented Briefing ,1996 The days of U S military forces defending a predetermined terrain with a large prepositioned force appear to be drawing to a close In the future as in the recent past the U S Army will need to deploy to areas of potential or actual conflict Furthermore because response time is often critical in overseas operations the United States must have land forces that can deploy quickly and decisively both by air and sea This study concentrates on the airliftable portion of these forces in the early entry role In this role light airborne forces may encounter heavy enemy forces in terrain suitable for tank maneuvers Such situations pose a grave challenge for U S light forces as they are currently configured As part of the Rapid Force Projection Initiative RFPI we examined new technology concepts that potentially allow light forces to fight and survive against such heavy forces Rapid Force Projection Technologies John Matsumura,2000 This documented briefing summarizes research supporting the Rapid Force Protection Initiative RFPI Advanced Concept Technology Demonstration ACTD with the goal of exploring new technology concepts for the ACTD The focus of this research was on advanced distributed ground sensors specifically the air deliverable acoustic sensor ADAS with emphasis on how such sensors might fit into the current RFPI hunter standoff killer concept High resolution simulation was used to examine and quantify many of the key aspects of performance environmental effects and military utility Rapid Force Projection Technologies Randall Steeb,1996 Exploring new technology concepts for light airborne forces The United States Army George D. Bennett,2002 United States Army Issues Background Bibliography Analysis of Air-based Mechanization and Vertical Envelopment Concepts and Technologies John Grossman,Jonathan Gary Grossman,2001 This document summarizes research conducted in 1998 by the Rand Arroyo Center on an exploration and assessment of the ability to insert mechanized forces in enemy controlled terrain Swarming and the Future of Warfare Sean J. A. Edwards,2005 Swarming occurs when several military units conduct a convergent attack on a target from multiple axes The author derives a simple theory that explains the phenomenology of swarming He considers command and control communications home field advantage surprise fratricide and training and identifies the primary variables to most important successful swarming Ground Forces for a Rapidly Employable Joint Task Force E. C. Gritton,2000 This monograph is a think piece about rapidly deployable future ground forces that would be used in time urgent joint task force missions The authors sketch out what is needed operationally describe forces responsive to those needs and discuss the feasibility of achieving such forces first with near term systems but new operational concepts and then for the longer term by drawing upon advanced technology Joint Operations Superiority in the 21st Century John Matsumura,1999 This documented briefing describes RAND research that supported the 1998 Defense Science Board DSB Summer Study on Joint Operations Superiority in the 21st Century Integrating Capabilities Underwriting Joint Vision 2010 RAND supported the DSB through both exploratory analysis and high resolution simulation based analysis this document only covers the high resolution work notably simulation experiments to help explore and assess Joint operational concepts It builds on related work done by the authors for the DSB effort Tactics and Technology for 21st Century Military Superiority DB 198 A The current effort draws on outcomes of other DSB studies discussions with warfighters and interactions with DSB members to define a range of different Joint operational concepts that could be applied to a future 2010 2015 notional high intensity quick reaction scenario The strengths and weaknesses of The Army After Next John Matsumura,1999 This document summarizes our initial year s work on the project Assessing Advanced Concepts and Technologies for the Army After Next AAN At the request of TRADOC Deputy Chief of Staff for Doctrine DCSDOC RAND Arroyo Center initiated this project about halfway into FY97 The overall intent of the effort was to provide force on force simulation based analytic support to the AAN initiative and support the series of wargames The effort involves the use of high resolution constructive simulation to explore both operational concepts and technology options for the light battle force concept associated with the AAN initiative One of the key capabilities required of the light battle force is an ability to hide and wait for the right opportunity and then create a virtual ambush resulting in a shock or disintegration of the enemy This kind of defeat to some extent is contrasted from more traditional attrition in that it greatly compresses the time in which Weapon Systems ,1998 Army ,1993

Forthcoming Books Rose Army,1997 Assessment of Crusader John Matsumura,Randall Steeb,John Gordon,1998 The research explores the utility of the Crusader system a next generation self propelled howitzer and resupply vehicle to the future of the U S Army including both the near term Army XXI and the farther term Army After Next Specific questions were asked about Crusader s ability to provide firepower on the future battlefield and to serve as a major technology carrier into the Army After Next era The report answers these questions and addresses other issues that may surface in considering the relative need for a state of the art self propelled howitzer in light of other Army interests Annual report Rand Corporation,1996 Autovon Directory for Financial Management Personnel United States. Department of the Army,1988

Subject Guide to Books in Print ,2001 Proceedings of the United States Naval Institute United States Naval Institute,1986 Rapid Force Projection Technologies Assessing the Performance of Advanced Ground Sensors ,2000 Over the past several years RAND has been exploring how new concepts made viable with emerging technologies can dramatically improve the effectiveness of light ground forces particularly in the early entry role Motivation for this area of research is derived from studies showing that the U S military will need to deploy with greater speed lethality and survivability in the future and that light forces will be the first deployed Limitations of recent capability were observed during the Desert Shield build up where airborne ground forces such as the 82nd Division Ready Brigade DRB were deployed to secure key terrain without a credible anti armor capability¹ Such improvements to early entry capabilities appear even more germane in light of the concomitant reductions in prepositioned forces abroad and the rapid increase in threat uncertainty Thus as difficult as the early entry challenge has been in the recent past early signposts suggest even more difficult challenges ahead Armed Forces Journal International ,2001
