Woodcutters, Potters and Doorkeepers Jac. J. Janssen,Elizabeth Frood,Maren Goecke-Bauer,2003 The community of necropolis workmen of Deir el Medina was part of the administrative branch responsible for the preparation of the royal tombs To this department also belonged several groups of service personnel This volume presents separate studies on three groups of this service staff Two of these belonged to the so called smdt namely the woodcutters and the potters while the third group occupies a position somewhere in between the workmen and the smdt the doorkeepers From Single Sign to Pseudo-Script Ben Haring,2018-01-03 Writing is not the only notation system used in literate societies Some visual communication systems are very similar to writing but work differently Identity marks are typical examples of such systems and this book presents a particularly well documented marking system used in Pharaonic Egypt as an exemplary case From Single Sign to Pseudo Script is the first book to fully discuss the nature and development of an ancient marking system its historical background and the fascinating story of its decipherment Chapters on similar systems in other cultures and on semiotic theory help to distinguish between unique and universal features Written by Egyptologist Ben Haring the book addresses scholars interested in marking systems writing literacy and the semiotics of visual communication With this publication the author exemplified how a close familiarity with a subject enables research in areas of Egyptian society that had not been touched until now and how the resulting insight is presented properly Eva Maria Engel Humboldt Universit t zu Berlin in Bibliotheca Orientalis 76 1 2 2019 This work should certainly become a guidebook to scholars wishing to publish ostraca of this sort who have in the past shied away from the complex task due to the enigmatic nature of the materials The time has arrived for this study of this hitherto neglected facet of Egyptian writing to find its fitting place in the history of literacy and script in Ancient Egypt as well as in the history of workmen's signs in general Orly Goldwasser The Hebrew University of Jerusalem in Journal of Near Eastern Studies 2019 78 2 The technical data and Egyptological scholarship of the book are deliberately made very accessible to be of assistance in the understanding of identity marks in other periods and cultures This is a remarkable work of social history George J Brooke in Journal for the Study of the Old Testament 43 5 2019
