Rape Of Bangla Desh The:

National Trials of International Crimes in Bangladesh M. Rafiqul Islam, 2019-03-19 In National Trials of International Crimes in Bangladesh Professor Islam examines the judgments of the trials held under a domestic legislation which is uniquely distinct from international or hybrid trials of international crimes The book falling under international criminal law area is a ground breaking original work on the first ever such trials in the ICC era The author shows how the national law and judgments can act as a conduit to import international law to enrich and harmonise the domestic law of Bangladesh and whether the Bangladesh experience creates any precedential effect for such trials in the future b offers any lessons for the ICC complementarity and c contributes to the progressive development of Asian and international criminal jurisprudence The Emergence of Bangladesh Habibul Khondker, Olav Muurlink, Asif Bin Ali, 2022-02-22 The Emergence of Bangladesh analyses and celebrates the first 50 years of Bangladesh as a nation bringing insights from key scholars in Bangladeshi studies to an international audience as well as bringing home to a domestic audience the work of some of the nation's greatest intellectual exports the Bangladeshi scholars who have made a mark in their field of study in academia The book offers unique coverage of the battlegrounds on which the founding of the new nation was fought including language power and religion and provides unique insight into some of the hot spots that continue to shape the development of the nation the issues of gender culture ethnicity governance the economy and the army Those with an interest in understanding the past or present Bangladesh will find this a trove of frank and readable analysis Gender, Nationalism, and Genocide in Bangladesh Azra Rashid, 2018-10-31 The 1971 genocide in Bangladesh took place as a result of the region's long history of colonization the 1947 partition of the Indian subcontinent into largely Muslim Pakistan and Hindu India and the continuation of ethnic and religious politics in Pakistan specifically the political suppression of the Bengali people of East Pakistan The violence endured by women during the 1971 genocide is repeated in the writing of national history The secondary position that women occupy within nationalism is mirrored in the nationalist narratives of history This book engages with the existing feminist scholarship on gender nationalism and genocide to investigate the dominant representations of gender in the 1971 genocide in Bangladesh and juxtaposes the testimonies of survivors and national memory of that war to create a shift of perspective that demands a breaking of silence The author explores and challenges how gender has operated in service of Bangladeshi nationalist ideology in particular as it is represented at the Liberation War Museum The archive of this museum in Bangladesh is viewed as a site of institutionalized dialogue between the 1971 genocide and the national memory of that event An examination of the archive serves as an opening point into the ideologies that have sanctioned a particular authoring of history which is written from a patriarchal perspective and insists on restricting women's trauma to the time of war To question the archive is to question the authority and power that is inscribed in the archive itself and that is the function performed by testimonies in this book Testimonies are offered from five unique vantage points rape survivor war baby freedom fighter religious and ethnic minorities to question the appropriation and omission of women's stories. Furthermore, the emphasis on the multiplicity of women's experiences in war seeks to highlight the counter narrative that is created by acknowledging the differences in women's experiences in war instead of transcending those differences. An innovative and nuanced approach to the subject of treatment and objectification of women in conflict and post conflict and how the continuing effects entrench ideas of gender roles and identity, this book will be of interest to academics in the fields of South Asian History and Politics, Gender and genocide, Women and War, Nationalism and Diaspora, and Transnational Studies.

Human Rights Watch BANGLADESH Ravaging the Vulnerable, The Rape of Bangla Desh Anthony Mascarenhas, 1971. The Aftermath of the Bangladesh Liberation War of 1971 Amit Ranjan, Taj Hashmi, Mazhar Abbas, 2024-09-02. This book analyses the human dimension during and after the Bangladesh Liberation War of 1971. The chapters investigate questions of belonging and being an alien, civil rights and ethnic demands, and broader issues of citizenship and statelessness. The analysis centres around the situation of those who crossed into the Indian side of the border during the Liberation War: the Bengali speaking population who chose Pakistan as their country after the birth of Bangladesh, and stranded Pakistani or Bihari Muslims living in Bangladesh. The book addresses three key questions: how do the modern nation states of India, Pakistan, and Bangladesh categorize citizens based on the narratives of 1971; how the acceptance of certain groups as part of the Indian citizenry affected its concept of belonging; and after 1971, how do Pakistan and Bangladesh define who is part of their citizenry and how do so-called aliens negotiate their identity in national debates. A timely contribution to the subject of forced migration, citizenship, and identities in South Asia, edited by three academics with Indian, Pakistani, and Bangladeshi heritage, this book will be of interest to a variety of academics studying the history, politics, and sociology of South Asia.

Bangladesh, 1978. The Politics of Terrorism and Counterterrorism in Bangladesh Saimum Parvez, Mohammad Sajjadur Rahman, 2022-12-30. This book examines contemporary issues and debates of terrorism in Bangladesh, including national and transnational terrorist outfits operating within the country, their narratives, and counternarratives, ideologues, women, and the youth, media representation, counterterrorism laws, and challenges. Bangladesh is a fascinating and often paradoxical case study for terrorism studies. The book examines major terrorist groups in contemporary Bangladesh and their international connections and narratives, as well as a case study of an influential ideologue who encouraged some Bangladeshis to engage in violence. The chapters discuss how women and youth play a role in Bangladeshi terrorism, how the internet is used for recruiting terrorists, the discourses of the media and state regarding terrorism, as well as the politics of law and counterterrorism initiatives, including critically evaluating non-state actors and government responses. In addition to providing an up-to-date analysis of terrorism and counterterrorism in Bangladesh, this book offers a balanced and unbiased perspective on this subject. It will appeal to academics and international policymakers who are researching violence and extremism in South Asia.
