Purposeful Restructuring Creating A Culture For Learning And Achievement In Elementary Schools:

Purposeful Restructuring Janet Chrispeels,1992      Purposeful Restructuring Janet Hageman Chrispeels,2026-02-27
First published in 1992 Purposeful Restructuring now with a new preface by the author explores the continuous pursuit of improvement in American public education It examines eight elementary schools deeply engaged in improvement efforts since the mid 1970s inspired by California s Early Childhood Education program      Resources in Education ,1994

Restructuring for Student Learning Bruce G. Barnett,Kathryn S. Whitaker,1996-04-28 The only true measure of a successfully restructured learning environment lies in how student learning has been affected not simply whether teachers relate well to one another community involvement has increased or districts have implemented site based management Provides an in depth review analysis and re evaluation of school restructuring Included are an examination of restructuring and student learning outcomes theoretical approaches to restructuring school and community environmental factors that influence restructuring and components of a platform for successful restructuring      Creating Effective Schools Wilbur B.

Brookover,Fritz J. Erickson,Alan W. McEvoy,1996      Collaborating to Change the Psychological Culture of the School Stewart Wood,1994      Journal of School Leadership ,2006      Educational Administration Abstracts ,1994      The Intelligent School Barbara MacGilchrist,Kate Myers,Jane Reed,1997-09-28 This is a particularly well written book soundly based on effective school practice It serves well its intention of helping schools become intelligent organizations This thoughtful analysis requires serious consideration School Leadership to be the type of school that can synthesise different kinds of knowledge experience and ideas in order to be confident about current achievements and be able to decide what to do next

The Culture of Change Peter Mortimore,2000 This is a comparative study of approaches to the challenge of improving achievement which focuses on two pairs of schools in London and Singapore They were chosen because they seemed to be achieving against the odds with pupils who were relatively disadvantaged in their society It is the schools successes and achievements in the face of adversity the strategies that enabled them to improve and the continuing challenges that they face that are described in this book by a research team comprising educational researchers business people and other professionals The book first explores the context of schooling in Singapore and London showing the differences and similarities between the two education systems The research is presented as a series of case studies in the book s central chapters and it concludes with a discussion of the improvement strategies adopted by the schools in relation to their different cultural contexts The team found that many similar strategies were adopted by the principals of the four schools but the different contexts in which they were operating meant that similar actions did not always lead to similar results They conclude that there is no single way of achieving school improvement no simple recipe for turning round the kinds of schools exemplified in these case studies While common factors in improvement include motivating staff focusing on teaching and learning enhancing the physical environment and changing the culture of the school change cannot be imposed from outside the will and the effort to change must come from within      Research in the Schools ,2004      Reflective Practice to Improve Schools Jennifer York-Barr,2001-07-11 This book is a must read for teacher leaders principals and central office administrators The authors make a substantive and powerful argument for addressing reflection at all levels of the organization and provide practical tools and insights to facilitate a comfortable transition from theory to practice This book will be valuable to anyone serious about ensuring success for all students Stephanie Hirsh Deputy Executive Director National Staff Development Council Oxford Ohio I treasure this book It is informative well written and important to educational leaders Robert Garmston Cofounder Institute for Intelligent Behavior El Dorado Hills California The authors explain reflective practice in a clear and concise manner and illustrate how reflective practice can enhance student learning Readers will come away with an understanding of the potential of reflective practice to improve teaching and learning in schools After introducing the concept of reflective practice as a set of skills and behaviours the authors take the readers through steps and activities to establish an individual practice reflection partners small group reflection and school wide reflective practice Reflective practice is not only for individuals who want to take personal responsibility for learning and improvement but also for educators who gain greater communication between staff and community      Reframing & Reform Robert V. Carlson,1996 The goal of Reframing and Reforming is to encourage frame experiments based on a variety of perspectives on organizations and leadership The literature reviewed in this text offers views on the need and potential for developing the ability to reframe our experiences      Organizational Effectiveness and Improvement in Education Alma Harris,Nigel Bennett,Margaret Preedy,1997 The main theories on effectiveness and improvement in education are brought together in this book that examines the ways in which these qualities can be monitored and measured      Development Planning for School Improvement David H. Hargreaves,David Hopkins,1994 Development planning is a relatively new concept in a changing educational vocabulary Different terms are now being used both within and between countries and the same term does not always have a shared meaning There is however something of a common core in both the origin and definition of the concept whatever particular name is used Development planning is a response to the need for a systematic and whole school approach to planning and the management of multiple innovations and change Although development planning is now a widespread innovation its success or effectiveness in terms of school improvement is by no means established The relative youth of development planning as a school improvement strategy and the fact the research is set within specific national or local contexts means that far less is known than anyone cares to admit The twelve chapters representing experience from six English speaking countries that comprise this volume attempt to remedy that situation Together with the editorial introduction they seek to pick out recurring themes as well as those very distinctive features that may be Important in an emergent field of study      Handbook of Research on Teacher Education John P. Sikula,Association of Teacher Educators,1996 The first edition of this text sought to provide a basis for improving the education of teachers at every level Committed to the idea that the betterment of teacher education is essential to the improvement of schools it provided understanding of the research so that professionals could compare evaluate and create effective programmes Choice ,1994 Changing Our Schools Louise Stoll,Dean Fink,1996 With this book the authors aim to assist people inside and outside schools to bring about positive change by helping them to define the purposes behind change the processes needed to achieve change and the results which they should expect Local Management of Schools Rosalind Levačić,1995 Since 1990 headteachers and school governors in England and Wales have had extensive powers to manage school budgets and are responsible for all of a school s resource needs including staff As the school budget is dependent on pupil numbers and parents now have more choice over which school their children will attend local management has had profound effects on how schools are managed and resourced The book presents original empirical research on local management and concludes that while schools are now able to use resources more efficiently there is little evidence to support the government s claim that local management plays a key role in raising standards of teaching and learning Site Based Management Scott Charles Bauer,1996
