Pugs in Public Kendall Farr, 1999-09-14 This unusual breed of dog is celebrated in this special tribute with witty text and amusing photographs of pets and their owners from the average to the famous 75 color duotone photographs Laws, Policies, Attitudes and Processes That Shape the Lives of Puppies in America Carmen M. Cusack, 2016-03-01 Puppies nubile tender and pure have become endeared to U S society and to some extent the world Puppies are the holy grail of animal companions to Americans They are glorified above other animals and protected by numerous laws yet they are systematically lawfully and illegally abused tortured and killed A vast array of opinions policies protocols rules regulations and laws govern treatment or mistreatment of puppies demonstrating that appreciation for puppies is neither ubiquitous nor superseding Puppies may be subjected to painful product testing in the U S but not in Europe despite their glorified status above other animals This book details the myriad of laws policies attitudes misfortunes and processes shaping puppies lives in America Specialized topics such as Bestiality Child Grooming Pornography Film Mythology and Art are addressed to build an argument that overall treatment of puppies in the U S reflects priorities needs values and morals which are contextually based on human desires capabilities survival mechanisms altruism American family life and the economy The randomized yet selective treatment of puppies typifies American culture and to some extent other cultures at least in the American purview The author analyzes physiological comparisons between humans and dogs to discover why Americans may be so interested in puppies The foundations of this research are law social and behavioral science policies history politics animal studies animal welfare criminal justice sociology anthropology and current events Dogopolis Chris Pearson, 2024-05-31 Dogopolis presents a surprising source for urban innovation in the history of three major cities human canine relationships Stroll through any American or European city today and you probably won't get far before seeing a dog being taken for a walk It's expected that these domesticated animals can easily navigate sidewalks streets and other foundational elements of our built environment But what if our cities were actually shaped in response to dogs more than we ever realized Chris Pearson's Dogopolis boldly and convincingly asserts that human canine relations were a crucial factor in the formation of modern urban living Focusing on New York London and Paris from the early nineteenth century into the 1930s Pearson shows that human reactions to dogs significantly remolded them and other contemporary western cities It's an unalterable fact that dogs often filthy bellicose and sometimes off putting run away spread rabies defecate and breed wherever they like so as dogs became a more and more common in nineteenth century middle class life cities had to respond to people's fear of them and revulsion at their least desirable traits The gradual integration of dogs into city life centered on disgust at dirt fear of crime and vagrancy and the promotion of humanitarian sentiments On the other hand dogs are some people's most beloved animal companions and human compassion and affection for pets and strays were equally powerful forces in shaping urban modernity Dogopolis details the complex interrelations among emotions sentiment and the ways we manifest our feelings toward what we love
