Comprehensive School Physical Activity Programs Russell Carson, Collin A. Webster, 2019-03-12

Schools are the ideal place to promote and apply the recommended accumulation of 60 minutes of daily physical activity. But until now it has been difficult to bridge the gap between research in this area and day-to-day practice in order to establish solid programs. That's where Comprehensive School Physical Activity Programs: Putting Research Into Evidence-Based Practice comes in. The CSPAP Model Brought to Life. The comprehensive school physical activity program (CSPAP) model, originally outlined as a 2008 position statement by the National Association for Sport and Physical Education to promote physical activity throughout K-12, is brought to life through this comprehensive all-in-one resource. In the decade since that position statement, CSPAP has been spreading through numerous initiatives which have mobilized a CSPAP field of study and a national framework for physical activity and physical education. CSPAP acts as a hub supporting physical activity through multiple components that can include physical education, physical activity before, during, and after school, staff involvement, and family and community engagement. Moreover, each CSPAP component can serve to strengthen and reinforce the academic goals of physical education.

Accommodates Needs of Diverse Audiences

Comprehensive School Physical Activity Programs, published in association with SHAPE America, accommodates the growing needs of academic researchers, school practitioners, district coordinators, educators, advocates, organizations, university faculty, and students who want to learn more about CSPAP or undertake ways to increase daily physical activity opportunities in and around schools.
