The Power to Persuade Richard N. Haass, Richard Haass, 1995-05 The Power to Persuade answers a fundamental question how can you navigate a world where persuasion rather than direct command is the rule In public sector organizations and in today's flattened corporate hierarchies traditional management strategies simply do not work This book shows how to hone the political skills that are so often the key to improved performance whether the goal is better policy or greater profit While teaching at Harvard University Richard Haass realized that no existing book advised people working in political settings how to be more effective Now he has filled the gap Using a compass as his operating metaphor your boss is north of you your staff is south colleagues are east and so on Haass provides guidelines for managing relationships setting goals and translating goals into results His interviews with Colin Powell James Baker Robert Strauss and dozens of others yield valuable practical insight For the tens of millions of Americans marked by a period of substantial and often fundamental change in public administration. Public Management Carolyn J. Hill, Laurence E. Lynn Jr., 2015-09-23. Managing in the public sector requires an understanding of the interaction between three distinct dimensions: administrative structures, organizational cultures, and the skills of individual managers. Public managers must produce results that citizens and their representatives expect from their government while fulfilling their constitutional responsibilities. In Public Management: Thinking and Acting in Three Dimensions, authors Carolyn J. Hill and Laurence E. Lynn Jr. argue that one size fits all approaches are inadequate for dealing with the distinctive challenges that public managers face. Drawing on both theory and detailed case studies of actual practice, the authors show how public management that is based on applying a three-dimensional analytic framework—structure, culture, and craft—to specific management problems is the most effective way to improve the performance of America's unique scheme of governance in accordance with the rule of law. The book educates readers to be informed citizens and prepares students to participate as professionals in the world of public management.

The Literature of the Nonprofit Sector, 1989. The first volume was a cumulative volume which contained the Foundation Center collection. Subsequent editions include all the Foundation Center acquisitions acquired annually as well as other current literature.

The New York Times Magazine, 1994. Advancing Philanthropy, 1995. The Power to Persuade Richard Haass, 1994. Haass, a former special assistant to President Bush and a senior director of the National Security Council, offers a unique and invaluable book about how to work effectively in the public sector: a lively, useful guide about practicing the delicate art of persuasion to gain influence and achieve success.

Social Work in the Era of Devolution Rosa Perez-Koenig, Barry Rock, 2001. While economic indicators in recent years have shown an unprecedented level of prosperity, social indicators tell a different story: growing economic disparity, increasing numbers of Americans lacking health insurance, increased levels of poverty among our youngest and oldest citizens, and an anti-entitlement political climate that has eroded assistance to those most in need. In this era of devolution, the federal government has been increasingly removed from the provision of services and support to vulnerable populations This book presents a framework for understanding the impact of these developments on the practice of social work The first section focuses on contemporary social forces processes and policy changes and their implications for the social work profession The second section explores practical issues as they affect selected vulnerable populations The concluding section describes interventions that have been taking place at grass roots levels including community action and interagency collaboration Thus this book attempts to integrate policy practice organizational and community perspectives on social work practice with a commitment to social justice

Engel, 1996 From preparation tactics and body language to staying focused and arguing effectively Negotiating focuses on the step by step skills needed to build confidence and successfully close deals This book includes a glossary of commonly used negotiating terms bibliography checklists worksheets and more

Public Management as Art, Science, and Profession Laurence E. Lynn, 1996 This work asserts that public servants are influential enough in theory and in practice to justify public management as an organized discipline for scholarship and teaching Describing public managers as the human capital of the government executive capacity it argues for establishing intellectual foundations for advising them in their work which is vital for democracy and for the credibility of democratic institutions The book offers an analysis of the relationship between theory and practice in public management and the role of universities in creating and sustaining that relationship It asks under what circumstances and how executives make a difference to the success of public policy and public agencies and argues that success requires both a value laden and an analytical approach
