Power in the Global Era T. Cohn, S. McBride, J. Wiseman, 2000-09-08 This volume discusses the effects of globalization on changing power relationships between transnational corporations TNCs and transnational capital the state and subnational groups TNCs have expanded their power with the deepening of market relations but they are not causing the state to wither away Indeed neoliberal changes often occur with the permission or even encouragement of powerful states Transnational capital has weakened labour groups in order to make production more competitive but the disadvantaged groups may mobilise to counter the power of transnational capital Finally globalization is subjecting domestic policies to increased international scrutiny

Common Goods Adrienne Héritier, 2002-05-28 As European countries become more interdependent the provision of common goods increasingly must be organized across national boundaries levels of government and sectors In addition former adversaries in the public and private sectors must learn to collaborate rather than compete These changing paradigms call for new institutional and instrumental arrangements that move beyond existing modes of national governance Offering a unique focus on the emerging role of private actors this volume explores the evolving challenge of governing common goods in an increasingly transnational environment The first systematic analysis of institutional solutions for providing common goods this book shows how hierarchies established over centuries of nation state rule have become obsolete while negotiation and self regulation have grown in importance The contributors explore innovative solutions to the collective action problems countries encounter when clear lines of traditional authority dissolve Globalization in the 21st Century Berch Berberoglu,2010-03-15 This book examines the development and transformation of global capitalism in the late 20th and early 21st century It analyzes the dynamics and contradictions of the global political economy through a comparative historical approach based on class analysis After providing a critical overview of neoliberal capitalist globalization over the past three decades the book examines the emergence of new forces on the global scene and discusses the prospects of change in the global economy in a multi polar direction in the decades ahead The book concludes by focusing on the mass movements that are playing a central role in bringing about the transformation of global capitalism

Globalization of Capital and the Nation-state Berch Berberoglu,2003 As transnational capital has become a mighty force controlling the economies of advanced and less developed capitalist countries around the world capitalism and capitalist relations of production have spread to and dominated societies and social relations in remote parts of the globe The resulting globalization of capital has given a free reign to the transnationals to impose on society capitalist practices on a global scale such that only the biggest and most powerful capitalist monopolies have become the real beneficiaries Global Political Economy Theodore H. Cohn,2008 Praised for its authoritative coverage of theory and history Global Political Economy places the study of IPE in the broadest global context Written by one of the field s leading scholars this text helps students understand the fundamental importance of international political economy and make sense of current events in the global economy Its three areas of focus globalization North North relations and North South relations encourage students to connect theory and history with practice explore domestic and international economic interactions and examine the critical relationship between economic and security issues Globalization Robert Goehlert,2003 Globalization, Culture and Inequality in Asia Timothy J. Scrase,Todd Joseph Miles Holden,Scott Baum,2003 Contemplating globalization from a sociological perspective it is without doubt that a major site for social political economic and cultural change in the new millennium lies in the Asian region The chapters in this book seek to describe and analyze a number of key aspects of social and cultural change wrought by globalization in the Asian region The underlying theme in the book is the multi dimensional way in which globalization in the form of ideas practices and technology have introduced social inequalities in specific contexts In particular the book examines how inequality has been reproduced challenged and theorized in Asia by the advent of globalizing culture Written by experienced and established scholars the study provides both theoretical explanation and discussion and analysis of empirical data from a range of social cultural and political economic perspectives and draws on studies from several countries in the region Globalization and Change Berch Berberoglu,2005 Globalization and Change The Transformation of Global Capitalism explores the origins development and transformation of globalization from a critical and historical perspective Berch Berberoglu brings together eight essays authored by prominent sociological scientists from across the nation that examine the dynamics of globalization through an analysis of class relations and class struggles that define the contemporary global political economy By undertaking a careful examination of the contradictions inherent in capitalist globalization this book provides a thorough understanding of the issues behind the global capitalist economy and the struggle against globalization while at the same time offering a viable solution to the growing exploitation of labor throughout the world This study on global capitalism informed by class analysis is essential to anyone interested in the political implications of globalization and the unfolding class struggles Journal of Economic Literature ,2001 Iraq War and the Future of World Order G. Gopa Kumar,2006 Papers presented at a seminar held at Thiruvananthapuram in 2004 Choice ,2004 Representational Fairness in WTO Rule-making Mohamed Omar Gad,2006 This book examines representational fairness in WTO rule making The context of examination is the pharmaceutical related provisions of the TRIPS Trade Related Aspects of Intellectual Property Rights Agreement and the interests of developing countries and pharmaceutical multinational enterprises therein The book analyzes the negotiation and implementation periods of the specified TRIPS provisions and the legal disputes that arose covering the period from the mid 1980s until the adoption of the Doha Declaration on the TRIPS Agreement and Public Health in November 2001 An imbalance reflected in the negotiated text in favor of pharmaceutical MNEs interests during the negotiation process is characterized as top down rule making Reacting to this developing countries exerted pressure from the bottom up hindering the implementation of these TRIPS provisions This retorting action while instilling a degree of balance congests the TRIPS regime and the larger WTO system with additional dispute proceedings leading to strains in North South relations The volume concludes with selective suggestions focusing on the rule making process of the WTO and proposes measures to reduce the likelihood of a deficiency in representational fairness occurring in future negotiations Political Economy of Energy in the Southern Cone Anil Hira,2003-03-30 Hira explores the impact of the neoliberal revolution in Latin America which claims the superiority of markets that are freed from government intervention and restrictions on trade and investment He examines changes in the energy policy of the Southern Cone Argentina Bolivia Brazil Chile Paraguay and Uruguay and finds that contrary to what is claimed and expected there is a great deal of state intervention that continues through regulatory policy All around the world economic markets are in flux Policies to change these markets are part of the neoliberal revolution that claims the superiority of markets freed from government intervention and restrictions on trade and investment The general conclusion among most academic and policy analysts who study developing countries is that market liberalization is a foregone conclusion Developing countries choices are constrained by two primary factors first the burden of massive external debt that forces them to court international finance and second the need to gain access to the world s largest markets in Europe and or the United States optimally through free trade agreements The effects of market liberalization including deregulation privatization and integration require further scrutiny Hira examines the effects of international market pressures on energy policy at the national regional and sectoral levels in Latin America s Southern Cone Argentina Bolivia Brazil Chile Paraguay and Uruguay who belong to the MERCOSUR common market Contrary to what is claimed and expected he finds that a great deal of state intervention continues through regulatory policy He also provides an thorough set of comparative political economy case studies along with a discussion of the MERCOSUR process with regards to energy His analysis of the political economy of electricity and natural gas deregulation is especially relevant in the wake of the California energy crisis the Enron debacle and international discussions about energy deregulation This book is of particular interest to scholars students and other researchers involved with Latin American economic development and energy policy Bulletin - Société Québécoise de Science Politique ,2001 The Writers Directory ,2013
