Powers of Ten, 1994 Resonanz in Zwischenräumen Lena Mertins, Maike Wiemann, 2024 Wer Resonanzen spürt lebt in der Realität abseits von virtuellen und funktionellen Zwängen Architektur kann reale Resonanzräume schaffen und die Wahrnehmung der Wirklichkeit unbeeinflusst von Virtualität stärken Lena Mertins Maike Wiemann Laut dem Soziologen und Politikwissenschaftler Hartmut Rosa steht die heutige globalisierte Gesellschaft unter dem Einfluss von Steigerungszwang und Beschleunigung Sowohl im heutigen Städtebau als auch in der heutigen Architektur zeigt sich dieser Steigerungszwang in Form von profitorientierten und wenig individuellen Produkten Resonante Räume wie sie beispielsweise in historischen Städten aufzufinden sind werden mit einer zunehmenden Verdichtung geschwächt Aufgrund von wenigen neu entwickelten resonanten Räumen in der Stadt besteht die Möglichkeit einer steigenden Raumamnesie Dieses Buches nimmt sich experimentell dieser Resonanzen und Räumlichkeiten an die zunehmend in Vergessenheit geraten Die Autorinnen untersuchen mit praktischen experimentellen Raumauseinandersetzungen ob Räume in der heutigen Gesellschaft noch ungeachtet ihrer Raumverbindlichkeiten wahrgenommen werden können oder ob diese Fähigkeit durch zunehmende Beschleunigung bereits verloren gegangen ist Zudem wird die Wahrnehmung von Zwischenräumen hinterfragt Zwischenräume die als bergangszonen Räume miteinander verbinden und als eine Art Schwellenbereich dienen Dabei steht die heutige räumliche Denkweise im Zentrum der Untersuchung Es wird erörtert ob sie zur Entschleunigung der Gesellschaft beiträgt und somit resonante Situationen fördern kann Den Raum für diese experimentellen Untersuchungen bietet die Stadt Münster

Powers of Ten Philip Morrison, Phyllis Morrison, Office of Charles and Ray Eames, 1982 Powers of ten a film dealing with the relative size of things in the universe and the effect of adding another zero Motion picture The Cosmic Zoom Zachary Horton, 2021-07-23 In The Powers of Ten by Charles and Ray Eames a view of two people enjoying a picnic zooms up and away to show their surroundings moving progressively farther into space then zooms back in for a close up of the hand of the picnicker travelling deep into the microscopic realm This is one of the most iconic examples of the cosmic zoom a trope that has influenced countless media forms over the past seventy years Horton uses the cosmic zoom as a starting point to develop a cross disciplinary theory of scale as mediated difference He considers the origins of our notions of scale how scalar mediation functions differently in analog and digital modes and how cosmic zoom media has influenced scientific and popular views of the world Analyzing literature film digital media and database history Horton establishes a much needed framework for thinking about scale across multiple domains and disciplines Star Ark Rachel Armstrong, 2016-11-13 As space ventures have become more numerous leading scientists and theorists have offered ways of building a living habitat in a hostile environment taking an ecosystems view of space colonization The contributors to this volume take a radical multi disciplinary view of the challenge of human space colonization through the ongoing project Persephone This book fundamentally challenges prevalent ideas about sustainability and proposes a new approach to resource austerity and conservation and providing truly sustainable approaches that are life promoting Readers will learn the details of the plans for Persephone a real project that is part of the company Icarus Interstellar s plans for the design and engineering of a living interior on a worldship to be constructed in Earth s orbit within 100 years Although the timeframe itself is only an estimate since it is contingent on many significant developments including funding and technological advances the industry consensus is that within 100 years we will see manned space exploration beyond our solar system This notion is shared by organizations such as the Initiative for Interstellar Studies and the DARPA funded 100 year starship project This book specifically develops the principles for the construction of a living habitat within a worldship a multi generational starship that contains its own world that supports colonists as it travels across great distances between stars at a speed much slower than light Far from being a sterile industrial setup such as the ISS or even being a bucolic suburbia as proposed by Gerard O Neill in the 1970s this worldship will provide the pre conditions for sustaining life beyond Earth s environment which may also lead to the evolution of non terrestrial ecologies Drawing on the principles of ecopoiesis and insights offered by the Biosphere 2 experiment that demonstrated what we have to learn about ecosystem construction this book proposes first designing the soils of such a space It should then be possible to set up the conditions that a first generation of colonists may experience in leaving our solar system to find new worlds to settle perhaps in spreading life throughout the universe Although the book takes a unique view of ecology and sustainability within the setting of a traveling starship it is equally concerned with the human experience on artificial worlds Chapters come from a range of multi disciplinary thinkers who shed light on the brave new future ahead from different angles

3D-Printed Body Architecture Neil Leach, Behnaz Farahi, 2018-02-01 Some architects dream of 3D printing houses Some even fantasise about 3D printing entire cities But what is the real potential of 3D printing for architects This issue focuses on another strand of 3D printing practice emerging among architects operating at a much smaller scale that is potentially more significant Several architects have been working with the fashion industry to produce some exquisitely designed 3D printed wearables Other architects have been 3D printing food jewellery and other items at the scale of the human body But what is the significance of this work And how do these 3D printed body scale items relate to the discipline of architecture Are they merely a distraction from the real business of the architect Or do they point towards a new form of proto architecture like furniture espresso makers and pavilions before them that tests out architectural ideas and explores tectonic properties at a smaller scale Or does this work constitute an entirely new arena of design In other words is 3D printing at the human scale to be seen as a new genre of body architecture This issue contains some of the most exciting work in this field today and seeks to chart and analyse its significance Contributors include Paola Antonelli MoMA Francis Bitonti Niccolo Casas Behnaz Farahi Madeline Gannon Eric Goldemberg MONAD Studio Kyle von Hasseln 3D Systems Culinary Lab Rem D Koolhaas Julia Krner Neil Leach Steven Ma Xuberance Neri Oxman MIT Media Lab Ronald Rael and Virginia San Fratello Gilles Retsin Jessica Rosenkrantz Nervous System and Patrik Schumacher Zaha Hadid

Architects Explorations in College Algebra Linda Almgren Kime, Judith Clark, Beverly K. Michael, 2017-10-23 Explorations in College Algebra's overarching goal is to reshape the College Algebra course to make it more relevant and accessible to all students. This is achieved by shifting the focus from learning a set of discrete mechanical rules to exploring how algebra is used in social and physical sciences and the world around you. By connecting mathematics to real life situations, students come to appreciate its power and beauty. Powers of Ten Philip Morrison, Phylis Morrison, Office of Charles and Ray Eames, 1994 Over 100 000 copies of this spectacular journey have already been sold. In forty-two consecutive scenes, each at a different power of ten level of magnification, readers are taken from the dimension of one billion light years to the realm of the atom. The text and other illustrations depict what we can perceive at each progressively smaller level of magnitude. A brilliant pictorial and textual embodiment of a wonderful idea. Stephen Jay Gould. Bigger Than Life Mary Ann Doane, 2021-10-18 In Bigger Than Life Mary Ann Doane examines how the scalar operations of cinema, especially those of the close-up, disturb and reconfigure the spectator's sense of place, space, and orientation. Doane traces the history of scalar transformations from early cinema to the contemporary use of digital technology. In the early years of cinema, audiences regarded the monumental close-up, particularly of the face, as grotesque and often horrifying, even as it sought to expose a character's interiority through its magnification of detail and expression. Today, large-scale technologies such as IMAX and surround sound strive to dissolve the cinematic frame and invade the spectator's space, immersing them in image and sound. The notion of immersion Doane contends is symptomatic of a crisis of location in technologically mediated space and a reconceptualization of position, scale, and distance. In this way, cinematic scale and its modes of spatialization and despatialization have shaped the modern subject, interpolating them into the incessant expansion of commodification.
