Service With The Sixth Wisconsin Volunteers:

A Full Blown Yankee of the Iron Brigade Rufus Robinson Dawes, 1999-01-01 I have been so wholly engrossed with my work for the last week or I should have responded sooner to your question Are you going If a kind Providence and President Lincoln will permit I am I am Captain of as good and true a band of patriots as ever rallied under the star spangled banner Rufus R Dawes A Full Blown Yankee of the Iron Brigade combines the personal experiences of Rufus R Dawes with a history of the regiment in which he served The Iron Brigade was the only all Western brigade that fought in the eastern armies of the Union and was perhaps the most distinguished of the Federal brigades Dawes is credited with a keen sense of observation and a fresh and vivid style Seldom absent from the field during his entire three and a half year term he chronicled Second Bull Run Antietam Fredericksburg Chancellorsville Gettysburg the Wilderness campaign Cold Harbor and the Petersburg lines Perhaps most remarkable is the well honed sense of humor he displayed about both the war and himself Dawes s sophisticated account of significant military organizations and events improves our understanding of the epic of the Civil War

Service with the Sixth Wisconsin Volunteers Rufus R. Dawes, 2019-01-29 Maj Gen McClellan What troops are those fighting in the Pike Maj Gen Hooker General Gibbons brigade of Western men Maj Gen McClellan They must be made of iron And so during the Battle of South Mountain a prelude to the Battle of Antietam this brigade earned its famous title as the Iron Brigade Once McClellan had heard of their actions during the Second Battle of Bull Run where they were facing off against a superior force under Stonewall Jackson he is said to have stated that they were the best troops in the world Rufus R Dawes was a captain with the 6th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry that along with 2nd and 7th Wisconsin Volunteer Infantry Regiments the 19th Indiana Battery B of the 4th U S Light Artillery and later in the war the 24th Michigan formed the Iron Brigade Although only in his early twenties at the beginning of the war he rapidly became an important leader in the famous brigade and by the end of the war was brevetted as a brigadier general for meritorious service One of his most famous actions was on the first day of the Battle of Gettysburg when he led a counterattack on the confederate forces under Brigadier General Joseph R Davis and forced the surrender of more than two hundred enemy soldiers Service With the Sixth Wisconsin Volunteers records in brilliant detail all of the actions that he and his regiment were involved in including Second Bull Run Antietam Chancellorsville Gettysburg Wilderness Spotsylvania Court House Cold Harbor and Petersburg Yet this book is not simply an account of the military activities that took place as he also recorded his feelings and moods and included details about daily camp life and individual soldiers Rufus Dawes derived all of the books material from his diaries and letters He realized the value of a statement made at the moment as to his experiences and he appreciated fully the treacherous nature of memory He believed contemporaneous expression in letters and diaries provided material of historical value He had the material and the ability to write a superb history of the grueling service of this famous regiment but he felt that the story of his personal experiences and impressions written at the time would be of greater value and so this book is not only account of the regiment it is also a very personal account of one man's view of the Civil War This book deserves to be read and enjoyed by all who wish to hear more about this brutal but fascinating conflict and to get to the heart of what the soldiers saw and thought Rufus R Dawes was a military officer in the Union Army during the American Civil War After the war he became a businessman Congressman and author His book Service With the Sixth Wisconsin Volunteers was first published in 1890 He passed away in 1899
