Learning to Serve Maureen E. Kenny, Lou Anna K. Simon, Karen Kiley-Brabeck, Richard M. Lerner, 2012-12-06 Service learning as defined by the editors is the generation of knowledge that is of benefit to the community as a whole This seventh volume in the Outreach Scholarship book series contributes a unique discussion of how service learning functions as a critical cornerstone of outreach scholarship The sections and chapters of this book marshal evidence in support of the idea that undergraduate service learning infused throughout the curriculum and coupled with outreach scholarship is an integral means through which higher education can engage people and institutions of the communities of this nation in a manner that perpetuate civil society The editors through this series of models of service learning make a powerful argument for the necessity of engaged institutions

The Standing of Vocational Education and the Occupations It Serves Stephen Billett, Barbara Elisabeth Stalder, Vibe Aarkrog, Sarojni Choy, Steven Hodge, Anh Hai Le, 2022-04-21 This book addresses what is perhaps the single most important issue for vocational education its relatively low standing in an era of high aspiration The work explores the nature extent and consequences for an educational sector that whilst having an increasingly important role in contemporary societies is seen to be of low standing across both countries with developed and developing economies Some of the standing is associated with the occupation it serves and this is highlighted in an era of high aspiration by young people and their parents The consequences are far reaching This includes how governments and community view and support vocational education parents and familiars advise about participation in it and young people s decision making associated with their post school pathways More than describing this problem the focus of this collection is how this issue can be redressed through the actions of supra government agencies governments schools in tertiary education institutions industry and professional bodies and employers It sets out the quality and extent of societal sentiments in shaping how vocational education and the occupation it serves are projected across countries continents and cultures and offers a range of perspectives and contributions from scholars on how this issue might be redressed These contributions are drawn together and synthesised into sets of propositions practices and approaches directed towards governments schooling and tertiary education institutions educators researchers industry and professional bodies and employers In this way the book seeks to provide an authoritative seminal comprehensive and central text to understand and respond to this central issue for vocational education
