

The background of the slide is a reproduction of the painting 'Prometheus Bound' by the French Romantic painter John James Audouin. It depicts the Titan Prometheus, who was punished for stealing fire from the gods, lying on the ground in agony. He is chained by his right hand to a jagged rock. An eagle is shown attacking his liver. The scene is set in a dark, cavernous space with a storm brewing in the background. The painting is characterized by its dramatic use of light and shadow, emphasizing the physical and emotional suffering of the protagonist.

Theodore Alois Buckley, 2015-08-05 Excerpt from Aeschylus Prometheus Bound And the Seven Against Thebes Aeschylus the first of the great Grecian writers of tragedy was born at Eleusis in 525 B C He was the son of Euphorion who was probably a wealthy owner of rich vineyards The poet's early employment was to watch the grapes and protect them from the ravages of men and other animals and it is said that this occupation led to the development of his dramatic genius It is more easy to believe that it was responsible for the development of certain other less admirable qualities of the poet His first appearance as a tragic writer was in 499 B C and in 484 B C he won a prize in the tragic contests He took part in the battle of Marathon in 490 B C and also fought in the battle of Salamis in 480 B C He visited Sicily twice and probably spent some time in that country as the use of many Sicilian words in his later plays would indicate There is a curious story related as to his death which took place at Gela in 456 B C It is said that an eagle mistaking his bald head for a stone dropped a tortoise upon it in order to break its shell and that the blow quite killed Aeschylus Too much reliance should not be placed upon this story
