Seven Schools of Macroeconomic Thought Edmund S. Phelps, 1990-05-17 This book offers an excellent survey of various macroeconomic topics which feature prominently in the research agenda and have inspired both theoretical and policy debate The book presents an authoritative and comprehensive summary and original critique of modern macroeconomic approaches by a scholar whose own contribution to the field is considerable In each of his seven chapters the author reviews one school of economic thought These are the Keynesian school of macroeconomics the monetarist school the New Classical school the New Keynesian school supply side macroeconomics and non monetary models of macroeconomics the real business cycle theory and the structuralist school which views changes in unemployment as the outcome of shifts in the structural characteristics of the economy The book is the text of the first series of Ryde Lectures established by Lund University in Sweden design adapted to dynamic settings Drawing on their own recent work on the topic the authors describe a modern theory of RM that blends the elegant dynamic models from the operations research OR management science and computer science literatures with techniques from the classical mechanism design literature Illustrating this blending of approaches they start with well known complete information nonstrategic dynamic models that yield elegant explicit solutions They then add strategic agents that are privately informed and then examine the consequences of these changes on the optimization problem of the designer Their sequential modeling of both nonstrategic and strategic logic allows a clear picture of the delicate interplay between dynamic trade offs and strategic incentives Topics include the sequential assignment of heterogeneous objects dynamic revenue optimization with heterogeneous objects revenue maximization in the stochastic and dynamic knapsack model the interaction between learning about demand and dynamic efficiency and dynamic models with long lived strategic agents
