All children and young people should receive comprehensive sexuality education from a variety of sources that empowers them to develop a positive self-identity and provides them with the tools necessary to form healthy relationships and to manage their own sexuality and sexual health. The positive impact such education has for the health and well-being of individuals, communities, and societies has been extensively documented in academic literature. Despite the strong evidence base, the actual provision of sexuality education can vary markedly across settings and countries and may often focus on biology, the prevention of violence, diseases, or pregnancy, and the use of fear-based or sex-negative messaging. Contemporary international guidelines and extensive empirical research strongly encourage strengths-based models that are sex-positive and empower young people to develop healthy relationships and to learn about pleasure and sexual well-being. Such programs are often grounded in human rights and ethical frameworks. In reality, specific examples of such programs and guidance about implementation are not easily accessible. Research and evaluation data may also be limited or not widely shared. The intention of this Research Topic is to showcase a variety of evidence-based initiatives that prioritize and celebrate sexual well-being through education. The impact of such programs shall also be explored alongside broader discussions about implementation, sustainability, replication, and scaling. We are keen to spotlight initiatives that address a specific sexuality education topic alongside more extensive programs. A variety of age groups, pre-K-16, and educational settings, e.g., home school, community, online, are welcome. Critically, a key attribute of any showcased initiative is that it seeks to provide education via sex-positive approaches that address sexual well-being, sex positivity, and/or pleasure. This Research Topic welcomes research that includes but is not limited to the following: scientifically rigorous evaluations of educational interventions; empirical examinations of best practice in educational design; meta-analyses of educational practice; innovation or pedagogies; barriers and enablers to program implementation; sustainability; replication; and/or scale-up; cross-cultural and/or cross-national studies; study protocols. Potential topics of interest include but are not limited to: Inclusion of young people in educational design; How pleasure discourse is contextualized within sexuality education curricula; Human rights; Implementation challenges; Ethical issues Adolescents views on sex and pleasure education The role of digital technology We especially welcome submissions from young people people from key populations and community based organizations We request that submissions adhere to the principles of respectful and stigma free language Sex, Culture, and Myth Bronislaw Malinowski,1963 Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples are advised that this resource may contain images transcripts or names of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples now deceased It may also contain historically and culturally sensitive words terms and descriptions Der Unrat in Sitte, Brauch, Glauben und Gewohnheitsrecht der Völker John Gregory Bourke,1913

 The Myths of the New World Daniel Garrison Brinton,1876 Myths, Risks and Sexuality Karen Buckley,Paul Head,2000
This jargon free book challenges ideas and behaviour and seeks to make clear how attraction in particular sexual attraction influences decision making not only in our personal lives but also in our work with other people Myth and Sexuality Jamake Highwater,1990 See Homoeroticism and Homosexuality in the index Mythological Gods M.
