Report on the Exploration of the Country Between Lake Superior and the Red River Settlement and Between the Latter Place and the Assiniboine and Saskatchewan Simon James Dawson, 1859 CCF Colonialism in Northern Saskatchewan David Quiring, 2007-10-01 Often remembered for its humanitarian platform and its pioneering social programs Saskatchewan's Cooperative Commonwealth Federation CCF wrought a much less scrutinized legacy in the northern regions of the province during the twenty years it governed Until the 1940s churches fur traders and other wealthy outsiders held uncontested control over Saskatchewan's northern region Following its rise to power in 1944 the CCF undertook aggressive efforts to unseat these traditional powers and to install a new socialist economy and society in largely Aboriginal northern communities The next two decades brought major changes to the region as well meaning government planners grossly misjudged the challenges that confronted the north and failed to implement programs that would meet northern needs As the CCF's efforts to modernize and assimilate northern people met with frustration it was the northern people themselves that inevitably suffered from the fallout of this failure In an elegantly written history that documents the colonial relationship between the CCF and the Saskatchewan north David M Quiring draws on extensive archival research and oral history to offer a fresh look at the CCF era This examination will find a welcome audience among historians of the north Aboriginal scholars and general readers
