Sewanee Writers On Writing:

As We Were Saying Wyatt Prunty, Megan Roberts, Adam Latham, 2021-06-09 Every summer for the past thirty years the Sewanee Writers Conference has gathered a community of writers for two weeks of workshops readings talks and meetings focused on the craft and art of writing This book is a selection of craft talks delivered during the conference over the last several years Some essays focus on one or two authors some focus on texts while others cast their regard more broadly All are written in response to questions generated by the process of writing as masters of the craft candidly report challenges they confront and the means by which they work to resolve such issues The eighteen essays encompass poetry fiction and playwriting investigating questions of language character design and meaning with nuanced readings of particular authors and works alongside more wide ranging reflections on craft Designed for audiences of writers and readers across multiple levels and backgrounds the essays collected in As We Were Saying offer original insightful arguments about the craft of writing and the power of literature

Sewanee Writers on Writing Wyatt Prunty, 2000-11-01 For two weeks every year literary figures from throughout the country gather in rural Sewanee Tennessee to lead the Sewanee Writers Conference a series of workshops and colloquia aimed at cultivating the craft of writing Gleaned from the first ten conferences the craft lectures collected in Sewanee Writers on Writing offer a range of perspectives on writing as practiced by various playwrights poets and fiction writers whose gifts have made the Sewanee conference a mecca for developing talent The essays offer a banquet of topics that will whet the appetite of all authors professional and amateur Russell Banks ponders the role of research in the constitutive power of the imagination John Casey considers simultaneity in art and Ellen Douglas describes how a writer confronts the changing shape of memory Reviewing the many changes he has witnessed in his distinguished career as a playwright Horton Foote offers his perspective on the collaborative spirit of the theater and Ernest Gaines explains why his subject matter must always remain the people of Louisiana Anthony Hecht responds to W H Auden revealing the ways both poets pair talent with subject and in a discussion of Robert Frost John Hollander explores the delicate subtleties of Frost's figurative thought Diane Johnson offers a witty and frank answer to the question all writers face at one time or another Write what Donald Justice expounds on the virtues of obscurity in poetry and Romulus Linney offers practical guidelines for using dramatic action to revise a play In her examination of Nabokov's Bend Sinister Alice McDermott demonstrates that fiction writers are bound by no rules other than do whatever you can get away with Marsha Norman provides a witty list of the dos and don'ts of playwriting and Francine Prose stresses the importance of detail to a story's credibility Finally volume editor Wyatt Prunty discusses the figure of vacancy in the stories of Flannery O'Connor and Peter Taylor
