Rimbaud: the Works, 2001-06-07 CHARLES NICHOLL author of SOMEBODY ELSE ARTHUR RIMBAUD IN AFRICA 1880-91 has written of Dennis J. Carlile's translation of RIMBAUD THE WORKS: These are the best renditions of Rimbaud in English since Wallace Fowlie's nearly forty years ago and many of them surpass that high standard. These poems have been wrestled with which is the very least they demand and successfully brought back home. Carlile gets the difficult switches and swoops of tone mostly right and the linguistic detail is impressive for un voix étrangère nait mon cœur gelé you can't get much better than a voice would hobble my frostbitten heart. This new translation of Rimbaud is the first in English to include the fragments and a Found Poem in English Notes and commentary along with a life chronology and selected further media assist the reader in delving into these darkly brilliant visions. RIMBAUD THE WORKS is the first new English version of this poet's work in 25 years. It contains all of his extant work from 1869 to 1875. The book is laid out in four parts. PART ONE contains A Season In Hell 1873 along with Delmore Schwartz's perceptive introduction out of print for over half a century. PART TWO contains all the poetry and prose pieces composed between 1869 and 1875 including THE DRUNKEN BOAT the Album Zutique and the fragments called Bribes first published by Gallimard in 1954. PART THREE consists of Illuminations c

Une Saison en enfer Arthur Rimbaud, 1972 Writing and Seeing Architecture Christian de Portzamparc, Philippe Sollers, 2008

The creative forms of literature and architecture appear to be distinct: one constructing a world on the page, the other producing the world in which we live. It is a conscious act to read literature, but the effects of architecture can pass by unnoticed. Yet despite such obvious differences, writers and architects share a dynamic with their readers and visitors that is unpredictably similar. Writing and Seeing Architecture unveils a candid conversation between Christian de Portzamparc, celebrated French architect and influential theorist, and Philippe Sollers, that challenges us to see the analogous nature of writing and architecture. Their fascinating discussion offers a renewal of visionary architectural thinking by invoking past literary ideals that sought to liberate society through the reinvention of writing itself. Urging that new rules be set for each creation rather than resorting to limitations of the capitalist society, the authors' daring confrontation of the interactions between writing and designing a space forcefully demonstrates the importance of intellectuals and practitioners intervening in the public sphere. Christian de Portzamparc is an architect whose designs include the French Embassy in Germany, the Cité de la Musique in Paris and the LVMH Tower in New York City. He was winner of the Pritzker Architecture Prize in 1994. Philippe Sollers is a novelist and critic whose journal Tel Quel (1960-1982) published Jacques Derrida, Michel Foucault and Bernard Henri Lévy. He is the author of many books including The Park and Une Vie Divine. Catherine Tihanyi's translations include One Must Also Be Hungarian by Adam Biro and The Story of Lynx by Claude Lévi-Strauss. Deborah Hauptmann is associate professor of architecture theory at Delft University of Technology, The Netherlands.

From Vocal Poetry to Song Jean Nicolas De Surmont, 2017-11-23

Although the song is often the subject of monographs, one of its forms remains insufficiently researched: the vocalised song communicated to the spectator through performance. The study of the song takes one back to the study of vocal practices, from aesthetic objects to forms and to plural styles. To conceive a song means approaching it in its different instances of creation as well as its linguistic diversity. Jean Nicolas De Surmont proposes ways of research and analysis useful to musicians, musicologists and literary critics alike. In his book he takes up the issue of vocal poetry in addition to examining the theoretic aspects of song objects. Rather than offering an autonomous model of analysis De Surmont extends the research fields and suggests responses to debates that have involved everyone interested in vocal poetic forms

A Season in Hell, the Drunken Boat, and Illuminations Arthur Rimbaud, 2019-02-06 Arthur Rimbaud's A Season in Hell is a prose poem loosely divided into nine parts. In one part of the poem the poet portrays quite transparently his own relationship with French symbolist poet Paul Verlaine. The two had a brief alcohol and drug fueled affair which finally came to end when Verlaine shot Rimbaud in the wrist in a drunken rage. A Season in Hell which has been referred to as a pioneering example of modern symbolism is included in this collection along with The Drunken Boat a fragmented first person narrative which vividly describes the drifting and sinking of a boat lost at sea. It is probably one of the best known works from Rimbaud's early period. Also included in this edition is what is arguably Rimbaud's masterpiece Illuminations. A collection of forty two poems almost all of which are in a prose format. Albert Camus hailed Rimbaud as the poet of revolt and the greatest. This greatness can be readily seen in this exemplary collection of A Season in Hell, The Drunken Boat and Illuminations. This edition is printed on premium acid free paper and follows the translations of James Sibley Watson, Lionel Abel and Wallace Fowlie.
