Searching For Shangrila An Alternative Philosophy Travelogue:

Searching for Shangri-la Laurence J. Brahm, 2003 Author and old China hand Laurence J Brahm hitchhikes through Tibet Qinghai and Yunnan to document the legendary Lost Horizon before it is lost forever The travelogue includes interviews with monks rock stars environmental activists Chinese bohemians and living Buddha This elegantly designed paperback printed on natural paper with black and white images is a great gift for nomads Also available in hardcover edition printed on beautiful natural paper with color photographs Shangri-La Michael Buckley, 2008-11-25 Appealing to the adventure traveler or armchair reader travelogue IIII,2004 who simply wishes to browse and dream this guide promises to lead them into the glorious reality and breathtaking landscapes of the Himalayas China's Transformations Lionel M. Jensen, Timothy B. Weston, 2006-12-21 This successor volume to China beyond the Headlines takes the reader even farther beyond the front stage to explore a China few Westerners have seen The contributors argue that the great gap between what specialists understand and the general public believes has led to distorted and potentially dangerous misunderstandings of the most powerful emerging player on the global stage Seeking to bridge that gap a group of prominent scholars journalists and activists challenge readers to move past the typical images of China presented by the media and to think about the common problems shared by China and the United States In an entirely new set of essays they explore such critical issues as environmental degradation nationalism unemployment film and literature news reporting the Internet sex tourism and the costs of the economic boom to vividly portray the complexity of life in contemporary China and how surprisingly often it speaks to the American experience Contributions by Bei Dao Susan D Blum Timothy Cheek Martin Fackler John Gittings Howard Goldblatt Peter Hays Gries Sandra Teresa Hyde Lionel M Jensen Tong Lam Sylvia Li chun Lin Jonathan Noble Tim Oakes David Ownby Judith Shapiro Timothy B Weston and Xiao Qiang Searching for Shangri-La Laurence J. Brahm, 2006 Some say that Shangri La can be found in sacred Tibet or maybe in wild Qinghai They are others who say it can be found in artistic Yunnan Author Laurence I Brahm hitchhikes off the beaten track through western China meeting monks nomads artists rock and pop musicians dancers composers environmentalists and Living Buddha each searching for their own version of Shangri La Shangri La can be found in a cup of caf latte or yak butter tea if you search carefully enough Searching for Shangri La Can you find it Maybe you are not searching carefully enough The Search For Shangri-La Charles Allen, 2015-11-05 The idea of a hidden refuge a paradise far from the stresses of modern life has universal appeal In 1932 the writer James Hilton coined the word Shangri La to describe such a place when he gave that name to a hidden valley in the Himalayas in his novel LOST HORIZON In THE SEARCH FOR SHANGRI LA acclaimed traveller and writer Charles Allen explores the myth behind the story He tracks down the sources that Hilton drew upon in writing his popular romance and then sets out to discover what lies behind the legend that inspired him In the course of a lively and amusing account of his four journeys into Tibet Allen also gives us a controversial new reading of the country's early history shattering our notions of Tibet as a Buddhist paradise and restoring the mysterious pre Buddhist religion of Bon to its rightful place in Tibetan culture He also locates the lost kingdom of Shang shung and in doing so the original Shangri La itself in an astounding gorge beyond the Himalayas full of extraordinary ruins

In Search of Shangri-La Bernard Jensen, 1989 Searching for Shangri-La Laurence J. Brahm, Adriano Lucchese, 2014-08-01 INTRODUCTION Deep down inside we all know our planet is not sustainable the way it is being run We need a new economic approach that embraces our environment with new measures of success both national and personal that seeks balance between the material and spiritual In Himalayan Notes we journey to the heart of ourselves to ask a hard question is there another way Searching for Shangri la is the first book of the Himalayan Notes series Laurence meets and is inspired by a unique group of artists dancers musicians lamas monks and nomads who together are calling for protection of our environment by getting back to values of culture and spirituality rather than materialism Among them are one of Asia s greatest composers ethnic Mongolian San Bao legendary dancer and choreographer and ethnic Bai Yang Liping new age music singer Dadawa ethnic fashion designer diva Flora Cheong leen rock star Kaiser Kuo pop singer Ai Jing together with Tibetan artist An Sang art curator Cheng Xingdong and a host of lamas monks environmentalists and nomads all calling for a new set of values for sustainable living on a planet of diminishing resources Together these individuals each in their own way draw upon rich sources of Himalayan values drawn from holistic philosophies of Buddhism ethnic traditions music dance art living as a part of nature not apart from it Each individual story emphasizes community over individual greater social benefit over self and the importance of helping those less fortunate than we are Now finally after more than ten years the full journey documenting this incredible 2002 expedition Searching for Shangri la is available without borders or censors ABOUT THE AUTHOR Laurence Brahm is an environmentalist social entrepreneur lawyer and global spokesperson for sustainable development Member of the United Nations Theme Group on Poverty and Inequality and author of several books on Asian economics and global development He is the founder of the Himalayan and African Consensus economic paradigms and divides his time between these regions In Search of Shangri-La Michael McRae, 2004 Searching for Happy Valley Jane Marshall, 2023-05-23 A global quest to comprehend the meaning of Happy Valley on three continents and how these mountain communities continue to survive in a world that constantly challenges the very notion of happiness Over her 17 year career as a travel writer Jane Marshall has wandered the planet always in search of wild high altitude off the beaten track places During her travels she discovered something profound On three continents separated by vast oceans she found hidden valleys known locally as Happy Valley Her guest to discover what makes them happy and learn from their Indigenous keepers The happy valleys share common characteristics They are geographically isolated and protected by walls of mountains they are home to rare and endangered plants and animals they exist outside of protections zones which gives them autonomy but also makes them vulnerable their Indigenous populations name the land after human and divine body parts and women are seen as powerful Inside these Happy Valleys a balance between humans and nature has been struck Sleeping on ridges in caves and in the traditional homes of local people Marshall makes gruelling journeys to the heart of the happy valleys as she strives to comprehend the deep peace she feels within them In a world facing environmental devastation illness and unprecedented mental anxieties Marshall's book offers an alternative She immerses herself in the land and forms deep connections with its people so she can learn sustainable ways of living their Indigenous populations have honed over millennia From a goat herder s hut in the Atlas Mountains of Morocco to a Sundance ceremony with the Blackfoot Soki tapi people of Alberta and ultimately to her dangerous pilgrimage in Nepal where she reaches the heart of a sacred land studded with treasures hidden by a famous yogi Jane Marshall takes readers on the greatest adventure of all The search for Shangri La and the wisdom that can save the planet and our own hearts Searching for My Shangri La John Staniland, 2024-01-15 Searching for My Shangri La is the author's second of book on the region after Midlife Meanderings in SE Asia It is about continuing an independent and unstructured journey through this fascinating part of the world on a shoe string budget Largely using public transport the author travelled from southern Thailand to Malaysia to explore the islands of Langkawi and Penang A boat then took him across the Straits of Malacca to Medan the capital of Indonesia which is to the north of the large island state of Sumatra After an exhilarating and often uncomfortable journey southwards he found himself opposite Singapore and needed to take a ferry across to this city state to continue his journey by air to Hong Kong After a thorough exploration of this former British Colonial outpost a fast ferry took him on to Macau A couple of days are then spent in this exhilarating former Portuguese colony preparing to explore southwest China and a comprehensive voyage of discovery of the Yunnan Province to the edge of the Himalayas Returning to Thailand meant undertaking a bizarre journey down the Mekong flanked by Burma and Laos Once reacquainted with northern Thailand there were a few days before it was time to head to The Myth of Shangri-La Peter Bishop, 1989-01-01 Bishop's engrossing and readable Bangkok for the flight back to the UK account provides us with a fascinating picture of European myths concerning the Land of the Snows and of the role these myths played in shaping perceptions of the Orient Bishop's riveting portrait of European conceptions is an important and exceptionally well written contribution to an understanding of Western attitudes toward Tibet and all of East Asia Morris Rossabi author of Khubilai Khan His Life and Times Asian Absences Wolfgang Büscher, 2010 This contemplative and lyrical narrative of a journey from Copenhagen to Eastern Asia evades simple conclusions to vividly capture the conflicting emotional and intellectual responses of a stranger in distant lands evoking both the exotic wonder and threatening otherness of unfamiliar cultures and repeatedly challenging mythic assumptions about the East Via an abandoned hospital for lepers a hallucinogenic mountain pilgrimage with shamans in Kathmandu and the beautifully odd curiosities of Tokyo s metropolis Wolfgang B scher takes his reader on a journey of enlightenment that is both troubling and beautiful Wolfgang B scher is an award winning journalist who writes for the Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung among others He won the Theodor Wolff Prize for Reportage in 2002 The Siege of Shangri-La Michael J. McRae, 2002 The story of the guest for a real life Shangri La in the darkest heart of the Himalayas a century long obsession to reach the sacred hidden center of one of the world s last uncharted realms At the far eastern end of the Himalayas in Tibet lies the Tsangpo River Gorge known as the great romance of geography during the nineteenth century s golden age of exploration Here the mighty Tsangpo funnels into an impenetrable canyon three miles deep walled off from the outside world by twenty five thousand foot peaks Like the earthly paradise of Shangri La immortalized in James Hilton's classic 1933 novel Lost Horizon the Tsangpo River Gorge is a refuge revered for centuries by Tibetan Buddhists and later in Western imagination as a sanctuary in times of strife as well as a gateway to nirvana The Siege of Shangri La tells the story of this fabled land s exploration as both a geographical and spiritual destination and chronicles the discovery at the end of the last millennium of the truth behind the myths and rumors about it Veteran journalist Michael McRae traces the gorge's exploratory history from the clandestine missions of surveyor spies called pundits and botanical expeditions of naturalists in the early twentieth century to the recent investigations of scholars adventurers and pilgrims seeking the Hidden Falls of the Tsangpo which purportedly rivals Niagara in size and serves as the gateway to paradise Each explorer s narrative provides increasing evidence of why the gorge has been mythologized in Eastern and Western lore as one of the world's most alluring blanks on the map and a supreme test of human will Taking readers on a guided tour of thegorge's landscape physical and metaphysical McRae presents an insightful look at the pursuit of glory and enlightenment that has played out in this mysterious land with sometimes disastrous consequences The Siege of Shangri La is a fascinating journey through the inner recesses of a remote mystical world and the minds of those who have attempted to reach it The Sacred Myth Of Shangri-La Peter Bishop, 2000 Tibet Travel Writing and the Western Creation of Sacred Landscape Peter Bishop teaches at the South Australian College of advanced Education and has travelled widely in Tibet Each generation creates its Own Tibet drawing upon accounts of Tibetan and Himalayan travel and exploration both fact and fiction the author surveys the many ways in which these myths have developed and changed from the late eighteenth century to the present day and he analyses these myths from a Jungian standpoint Altogether this is a masterful and persuasive study of the phenomenology of Western fantasy making
